CONGRESS IN ROW OVER EXCLUSION BILL!

Seek Y. M. C. A. Building; Cost About $275,000

CAMPAIGN TO RAISE FUND NOW BEING OUTLINED

Drive for Finances to Take Place in Third Week of September

By H. THOMPSON RICH
Of The Evening News Staff.

Plans for a Y. M. C. A. building in Glendale to cost not less than $275,000 have now been definitely lined into shape and a campaign to raise the money will be launched the third week in September, this morning announced Park Arnold, chairman of the building committee.

Though a site has not yet been selected, several are being considered. Such a site would have to be centrally located and at least 150 by 150 feet in size, to care for the tennis courts, handball courts and "twilight" baseball grounds.

Swimming Pool

Mr. Arnold and Rex C. Kelley, general secretary of the Glendale district, Y. M. C. A., have visited buildings of the association in San Diego, Long Beach, Pasadena and other Southern California cities, getting angles on the forthcoming local structure. "One feature that is having prime consideration in the plans is a thoroughly up-to-the-minute swimming pool and everything that goes with it," says Mr. Arnold. "A modern Y. building is in a way built around the pool, and it is here that mistakes in construction are most apt to occur. That we are determined to avoid when we build the Glendale structure."

Plan Dormitory

"Another feature getting a great deal of consideration in our plans is the dormitory end of it, for a modern Y. M. C. A. must furnish the very best of living quarters for young men who are in need of such accommodations. The building must also have a complete gymnasium, for the use of business men as well as boys and young men of the city. "Indeed, a Y. M. C. A. building is one of the most highly specialized structures being built today, and the style is constantly advancing, as new ideas appear. We want to make the Glendale building the very last word on the subject."

A local architect will probably be employed to erect the building, Mr. Arnold states. He will be assisted by the architectural department of the state and national Y. M. C. A.

WOMAN COMMITS SUICIDE IN CAR

Mrs. George W. Baker Slays Self In Despondency Over Ill Health

Mrs. George W. Baker, 38, of 1136 Green street, committed suicide at 11 o'clock this morning while seated in a car belonging to George J. Lyons at the corner of Cypress street and Brand boulevard, by shooting herself in the left temple with a .32 calibre revolver. The bullet passed through her brain and came out the right side of the head.

No one heard the shot fired, as far as the police have been able to determine. Mr. Lyons started to enter his car soon after and noticed Mrs. Baker on the back seat. He immediately notified the police. Capt. W. A. Lovins, Lieut. W. J. Royle and Sergeant C. P. Blake answered the call, and rushed Mrs. Baker to the Glendale hospital. She was still alive upon her arrival there, but died ten minutes later without regaining consciousness.

Ill Health Cause

Mrs. Baker had been in ill health for some time and this is attributed by the police as the cause of her act. Two months ago she was accidentally gassed while asleep in her bedroom, and from that time has been very despondent, according to a statement made to the police by her husband this morning. As Mr. Baker, who is a painter, contractor, prepared to leave the house this morning shortly before 9 o'clock, he said to him, according to his statement, "I have awful pains in my head and I feel that my mind is slipping from me."

Until a month ago Mrs. Baker had been employed by Mr. Lyons in his drapery establishment, and it is presumed that she was on her way to see him about returning to work when she took her own life.

Coroner Notified

The county coroner was notified, and the body removed to the L. G. Scovern Undertaking company. Mrs. Baker is survived by her husband. There were no children.

Where Mrs. Baker procured the gun with which she took her life is a mystery. Mr. Baker stated that he has not owned a revolver for six years. The gun was an apparently new .32 calibre Colt automatic.

Belcher was taken to the General Hospital, but McCullough remains in the Revere hospital with a little chance for recovery.

REVISION OF TAXES MAY BE ISSUE

President Urged to Appeal To Voters for Support Of Mellon Bill

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright 1924

WASHINGTON, May 9.—President Coolidge may veto the tax bill and appeal to the country in the coming elections to give him a Congress which will support the Mellon plan.

Such a course is being seriously advocated here, together with a proposal that the 25 per cent reduction in taxes on incomes earned during the year 1923 shall be applied also to the year 1924, inasmuch as the congress elected next November could not be called into session until after March 4, 1925.

Apart from his own personality and capacity as an administrator there is no issue as yet on which the present administration can go to the country. The opposition will, of course, have plenty of basis for attack but it is not the purpose of the Coolidge administration to wage a defensive campaign. Some concrete proposals will be necessary in order to ask for a continuance in power.

The Mellon plan, it is pointed out, was received with a wave of almost unanimous support when it was first announced. Congress was flooded with petitions and the editorial opinion of the country seemed preponderantly in favor of the Mellon idea. Since that time, however, a combination of insurgent Republicans and Democrats has operated in both the House and the Senate, not only to defeat the Mellon plan but to add on certain objectionable features, such as the opening of all income tax returns to public inspection. Mr. Coolidge, as the leader of the Republican party, has been unable to command the Republicans to AMITE, La., May 9.—As three sharp cracks resounded across the little prison yard here this afternoon, six Italians were shot, two at a time, through a double gallows, to their deaths.

They paid their lives to the state of Louisiana for the slaying of one man. The murdered man was Dallas to pulmes, killed at Independence, La., three years ago, during an attempted bank robbery by the sextet. The men who died were Joseph Giglio, Natale Deamoro, Roy Leone, Joseph Bocchio, Joseph Rini and Andrea Lamantia.

Lay Plans to Destroy Big Bunch of Liquor

SAN FRANCISCO, May 9.—Prohibition Director Samuel F. Rutter was making plans today to destroy 1,000,000 worth of seized liquor, following court orders to get rid of a portion of the $57,000,000 worth of booze held in warehouses here.

The liquor to be destroyed consists of rare old wines, high grade whiskeys, poor moonshine and "poison" liquor. Dumping of the supply will establish a new record here. Rutter said excessive warehousing costs made destruction of the booze necessary.

New Tax Reduction Bill Due To Pass And Receive Veto

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON, May 9.—Sweeping everything before time, the coalition of Democrats and insurgent Republicans in the Senate this afternoon accomplished the complete rout of the administration forces in the fight over the tax reduction bill and wrote into the measure the entire scale of Democratic rates.

On a straight vote between the Democratic rates and the rates of the Longworth compromise bill that already has passed the House, the Democratic rates were voted into the bill by a vote of 46 to 38. Seven Republican insurgents and two farmer-laborites voted with the Democrats.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON, May 9.—The power of the coalition between the Democrats and insurgent Republicans in the Senate was again manifested this afternoon when an effort by Senator Smoot to have the maximum surtax in the new tax bill fixed at 32 per cent was voted down. The vote was 47 to 36.

The 32 per cent figure was a compromise between the Mellon figure of 25 per cent and the Democratic figure of 40 per cent, which administration leaders had been hopeful of passing. Johnson of California joined with the Democrats and the farmer-labor senators in rejecting the compromise figure.

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
For International News Service.

WASHINGTON, May 9.—The new tax reduction bill, rewritten by a Democratic insurgent coalition, faced increased prospects of a presidential veto today as it neared final enactment in the Senate.

Supported by the insurgent group, Democratic leaders wrote into the new revenue measure nearly all their own tax theories while recommendations of Secretary of the Treasury Mellon were abandoned with studied regularity.

The regular Republican leaders were confronted with one-sided a battle for administration tax policies that Senator Smoot of Utah, majority financial chieftain, finally served notice he would no longer oppose minority amendments to the bill.

COOLIDGE TO VETO, IS BELIEF

Smoot's action was taken as a complete surrender on the part of administration leaders to the will of the Democratic insurgent coalition and as a new indication that President Coolidge plans to veto the measure. The bill probably will pass the Senate tonight or tomorrow, going then to conference for adjustment of rates which differ from the house (Longworth compromise) bill. It probably will not reach the White House for two weeks and the president, reports said, will send it back to Congress with a veto and a recommendation for the immediate enactment of a new bill slashing 25 per cent from all 1923 income taxes.

COMPARISON OF TWO PLANS

The bill, as it goes to the White House, undoubtedly will be a compromise schedule adopted by the House. A comparison of the two plans follows:

Income	Normal Tax	Simmons	Longworth
First $4,000	2	2	2
$4,000 to $8,000	4	4	5
Above $8,000	6	6	6
Surtaxes (Sliding Scales)
Above $10,000	1	1 1/2	1 1/2
$50,000	17	17 1/2	17 1/2
$100,000	37	37	36
$200,000	38	37 1/2	37 1/2
$500,000	40	37 1/2	37 1/2
Gift Taxes (Sliding Scales)
Amount	Walsh	Longworth
$25,000 and over	1	None
$50,000 and over	2	1
$100,000	15	15
$50,000	27	27
$100,000	36	40

DEMOCRATIC RATES ARE HIGHER

The Walsh (Senate) plan provides $25,000 exemptions on gifts to a child or parent and $50,000 exemptions on husband and wife gifts. The Longworth plan carried no such exemptions.

The inheritance taxes followed the same schedule as for gift taxes but the Walsh plan, as shown above, would apply only to inheritances received by a husband, wife, child or parent. The Democratic rates would increase 25 per cent on inheritances received by a brother, sister, nephew or niece, and would be 50 per cent higher on inheritances for all other relatives or strangers. The relative rates would apply to everybody.

An amendment exempting contributions to community chests from taxation was adopted this afternoon.

An amendment by Senator Trammell, Democrat, of Florida, which also was adopted, would exempt pensions granted by state governments.

INCREASE IN EXEMPTIONS BEATEN

An effort to increase exemptions on the normal taxes from $1000 to $2000 for single persons was defeated without a record vote. A similar fate befell an effort to raise the exemptions for married couples from $2500 to $3000. Both proposals were made by Senator Trammell, Democrat, of Florida.

The Senate also refused to reduce from three to two years the time allotted taxpayers in which to claim exemptions on business losses.

Methodist Women Secure Same Authority As Men

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., May 9.—Methodist women today won a great victory when the general conference of the church, in session here, granted them the right to be ordained as pastors of the Methodist church.

They are given the same rights and authority as men except that they will not have full conference relationship and will not be permitted to enter the itinerant ministry.

One group of women, led by Mrs. S. J. Johnson of Pasadena, Cal., favored adoption of the report of the special commission which recommended that women be admitted to ordination as local preachers. After a protracted debate, the report was adopted.

Officials of the conference said they regarded the action as an important step towards equal standing of women with men in the church. In 1904 women were first admitted to the general conference and at the conference at Des Moines, four years ago, authority was given to grant women licenses to preach.

CONFERENCE REPORT ON JAPANESE CAUSE OF DEBATE

Speaker Gillett Decides Additions to Measure 'Legally Made'

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON, May 9.—Chambers, after several hours of warm debate, the House late today rejected President Coolidge's proposal to postpone the date upon which Japanese exclusion is to become effective until March 1, 1925.

This was accomplished by the House voting 189 to 174 to strike out the conference report on immigration that clause which would have directed the president to negotiate a treaty with Japan prior to March 1, 1925.

Another vote was immediately started on the motion to recommend the bill to conference with positive instructions to make the exclusion date effective July 1 next.

WASHINGTON, May 9.—Congressional resentment over the postponement of Japanese exclusion, insisted upon by President Coolidge, flared up in the House this afternoon as soon as the conference committee having the immigration bill in charge submitted its compromise agreement.

Two points of order against the House accepting the conference report were immediately made by Representative Sabath, Democrat, of Illinois, and Representative Raker, Republican, of California.

Out of Order

Speaker Gillett ruled out both points of order after a preliminary debate. The speaker held that the insertions and additions the conferees had made were "legally made."

Debate then started on the conference report itself. By agreement it was to be limited to two and a half hours.

The proposal put forward by President Coolidge and Secretary of State Hughes for extending the date upon which Japanese exclusion becomes effective until March 1, 1925, appeared doomed to defeat today.

House May Agree

There was every indication that Japanese exclusion would be fixed for July 1, next, as planned by the framers of the new immigration bill.

The House probably will agree to the president's request for time extension, but resentment is more pronounced in the Senate, and the leaders of both parties expect the Senate will refuse to abide by the conference report dictated by Mr. Coolidge.

Rejection by either house will throw the bill back into conference for further discussion, and in such event it is considered likely the July 1 date will be re-adopted and then ratified by both houses.

The conference report was called up in the House today and put on passage.

Richmond Awarded $1 Damages From Shuler

LOS ANGELES, May 9.—The Rev. George Chalmers Richmond, former Episcopal minister, won a $1 verdict today in his $50,000 damage suit against Rev. "Bob" Shuler, pastor of the Trinity Methodist Episcopal church here, for alleged defamation of character. In giving his decision Judge McDaniel, of Marysville, severely criticized both Shuler and Richmond for engaging in a row that took them into court.

Coolidge's Majority Passes 54,000 Mark

SAN FRANCISCO, May 9.—Returns this afternoon from 6322 precincts of the state's 6974 in gave the following totals: Coolidge, 305,179; Johnson, 251,561.

The president's lead over Senator Johnson thus reached almost the 54,000 mark.

Mrs. Everett Hughes in Monte
Vista for a social affair.

In the plans for the young people of the church it is announced that Mrs. Keith L. Brooks, expert junior worker, and junior superintendent of Sunday school work, has been secured to assist H. B.
White with the junior church, which meets at the same hours as the senior church.

Missionary meetings are to be held at the church every night next week, beginning Sunday, when Dr. Johnson of the Presbyterian missionary board will speak both morning and night. A pageant, "Uplifting Hands," will be given Friday, May 16, directed by Mrs. Miller.

SOCIAL EVENTS

Women Speakers
The Women's Union of the First Baptist church held their regular monthly meeting yesterday in the church, beginning at 10 o'clock.
The morning hours were devoted to sewing for the White Cross, and luncheon was served at noon to the eighty women present by members of District No. 5, of which Mrs. J. M. Myers is chairman.

Devotional services were led by Mrs. Ernest Griggs and vocal selections were rendered by Mrs. B.
M. Wagoner and Miss Rita Gould.

After the luncheon a short business session was held, with the president Mrs. J. Ray Bentley, in charge. At this time Mrs. Arthur Sisley gave an interesting report on her work with the Christian Center in Los Angeles.

Mrs. Wayland Wood, chairman of the calling committee reported 460 calls had been made during the past month. Eighty-one of these were made by members of District No. 6, of which Mrs.
Charles Keen is chairman.

Miss Amy Lee Stockton and Miss Rita Gould of Long Beach, who are conducting evangelistic services at the church this week, were special guests of honor. Miss Gould conducted a song service, and also rendered a vocal selection. Mrs. A. E. Christensen gave a delightful reading, "Thanksgiving Ann."

Miss Amy Lee Stockton gave an address on the "Worthy Woman," in her usual pleasing manner.

The next regular meeting will be held in the church on June 12, it is announced.

For Miss Cook
Miss Pearl Pollock of Venice and Miss Helen Beach of 1121 North Maryland avenue entertained Tuesday night at a miscellaneous shower at the home of the latter, complimenting Miss Harriette Cook, daughter of Mr.
and Mrs. B. F. Cook, 639 North Orange street, who will become the bride of Hal Weeks of Los Angeles in June.

Spring flowers made the Beach home brilliant for the affair.
The refreshment table was centered with a low bowl of delicately tinted flowers and bonbon baskets, and favors of tiny paper umbrellas also were carried out in pastel shades.

During the evening Miss Cook was asked to follow a path of roses, at the end of which she found many lovely gifts for her new home.

The evening was devoted to playing bridge and an informal social time.

Those present were Miss Harriette Cook and mother, Mrs. B.
F. Cook, and Miss Helen Vredenberg, Odell Cunningham, Marie Glenn, Dorothy Haig, and Mesdames Jack Jenkins, Fred
Wilson, Orville Williams, Allen
McKenzie, Marshall Pearson,
Owen Dair, and the hostesses,
Miss Pearl Pollock, Miss Helen
Beach, and mother, Mrs. A. W.
Beach.

At Pastor's Home
Rev. L. J. Millikan, pastor of the Broadway Methodist church, and Mrs. Millikan were hosts last night to the members of the official board of the church and their wives when they entertained with a delightful dinner party in the social hall of the church.

During the evening Mr. Millikan stated that for many years it has been his custom to en-tain the members of the official board and their wives at least once a year as one big family. He said he derived from these occasions pleasure that could be likened to family re-unions.

One of the board members responded, expressing in behalf of the official board members their appreciation for the dinner and the kind friendship manifested.
This was followed by a rising vote of thanks.

After dinner an informal social hour was enjoyed.

Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Asbury, Mr. and Mrs.
J. W. Knight, Mr. and Mrs. J.
J. Morton, Mr. and Mrs. W. J.
Haynes, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Millikan, Mr. and Mrs. John M.
Green, Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Mc-Gillis, Charles and George Millikan and the host and hostess,
Rev. and Mrs. L. J. Millikan.

Birthday Lunch
One of the delightful social affairs of the week was the luncheon given Tuesday by Mrs.
C. C. Sawyer, 611 West Doran street, in celebration of the birthday anniversary of Mrs. M. C.
Sawyer. The affair was given as a surprise to the honoree.

A pink and white color scheme, in artistic arrangements of pink and white carnations, was used in decoration. The luncheon table centerpiece consisted of a low bowl of carnations and the pink favor baskets represented
May were fastened to miniature ovals made of peanuts, below which was written a puzzle verse.

After a four-course luncheon was served, the afternoon was devoted to an informal social time.
The guests included Mesdames
M. C. Sawyer, Ellen Foster, F. F.
McElman, John Sims, W. W.
Sawyer, Josephine Sawyer, John
V. Russell and Alex Bonnett.

Business Women
Mrs. Josephine Woolsey of 342
West Maple street is to be hostess next Tuesday night at an informal supper and meeting of the Business and Professional Women's club of Glendale.

Plans are for serving dinner at 6 o'clock at 35 cents a plate.
Reservations must be made before Monday noon with Mrs. Woolsey at Glendale 3458-M.

An informal social hour will follow the dinner, with Dr. Jessie A. Russell, club president, presiding.

Mothers Guests
In anticipation of "Mothers' Day," on Sunday, maids and young matrons of the Tuesday Afternoon club were hostesses at a luncheon at the clubhouse, where they entertained as special guests mothers and members of the executive board of the club.

There were more than seventy members and guests seated at the luncheon tables, beautifully decorated with Cecil Bruner roses. At each place a cunning little bouton-niere of the roses was placed as a favor.

During luncheon a group of enjoyable songs was given by Miss Gladys White, accompanied by Miss Marjorie Yarrick. She sang
"Donna Vorrei Mouri" (Tosti),
"That's the World in June" (Spross) and "Two Little Stars" (O'Hara).

Mrs. C. G. Putnam, curator of the department, presided over the after-luncheon hour, introducing the officers and directors of the club, each of whom responded briefly. Mrs. Daniel Campbell, club president, spoke in praise of the wonderful spirit of the maids and young matrons, and of their value in the club organization.

Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, president-elect of the club, was also presented, and gave "Mother," a poem by Reed Heustis of Glendale.

John Steen McGroarty, author of the "Mission Play," was to have been honored guest and speaker, but, since it was necessary for him to go north to supervise the presentation of the "Mission Play" in San Francisco, he sent Mrs. Florence Dobson Scheneman, a cultured Spanish woman, who pictured most interestingly the early days in California.

Two Spanish songs, "La Paloma" and "La Golondrina," were played on the violin by Mary Kitty, accompanied by Noel Culhane.

Later a business meeting was held and Mrs. Putnam appointed as members of the hospitality committee for the rest of the year
Mesdames J. H. Toal, Flower and Burton.

C. C. Club Dinner
Over 100 mothers and daughters were in attendance last night at the banquet given by the C. C. club at the Glendale Presbyterian church.

Yellow and white marguerites were the floral feature of the table decorations.

Mrs. Frances Neff served as chairman of the program, introducing Mrs. E. B. Moore, president of the Glendale Federation, Parent-Teacher associations; Mrs.
May of Long Beach, who gave pi-anoles; Mrs. Singer, who sang songs; Mr. Lamonte, who gave vocal numbers; and Mrs. Torrey, who spoke as a representative of the church.

Give Luncheon
Mrs. E. H. Dutton of South
Brand boulevard and daughter,
Mrs. James Lyons of 619 North Howard street, entertained with a luncheon Wednesday at the home of the latter.

Gold and orchid were the colors used in decorating the rooms and luncheon table. A low bowl of snapdragons formed the centerpiece for the luncheon table.

Covers were laid for Mrs. Fern Long, Miss Bessie Omans and the hostesses, Mrs. James Lyons and Mrs. E. H. Dutton.

Pi Beta Phi
Alumni of the Pi Beta Phi sorority were entertained yesterday with a 1 o'clock luncheon at the home of Mrs. W. A. Haines, 212 West Lomita avenue.

Mrs. Charles Rathbone and Miss Bessie
Omans were assistant hostesses.
Wine color and silver blue were the colors combined in decoration.
The color scheme was carried out with carnations arranged in blue baskets.

After luncheon, which was served to twenty guests, an informal social hour was enjoyed.

Tea For Mothers
With the War Mothers as their guests of honor, the members of the American Legion Auxiliary will entertain with a musical tea at the Congregational church on Monday afternoon, May 12, from 2:30 till 5 o'clock, it is announced.

During the afternoon a program will be presented and refreshments served. All members of the American Legion Auxiliary and War Mothers' chapter are urged to be in attendance.

Help Buy Organ
Lutheran church women voted yesterday at the Women's Guild meeting at the church to make a pledge to the fund for purchasing a pipe organ.

Mrs. H. D. Chase, president, states that a splendid attendance was recorded at the meeting. Plans were completed for the summer's work.

Hostesses serving refreshments were Mesdames M. E. Smith and
H. A. Stolper.

P. E. O. Chapter
Reports on the recent P. E. O. convention in Los Angeles were given Wednesday at the all-day meeting of Chapter DJ with Mrs.
H. C. Jacks of 204 South Glendale avenue.

A 12:30 o'clock luncheon was served and later Mrs. O. A. Danielson, president, directed a chapter meeting. Mrs. Wiloth gave the convention review.

Festival Tonight
A May festival will be given tonight by the members of the Cole class of the Central Christian church in the social hall, it is announced. The program will begin at 8 o'clock and continue until 10 o'clock.

A cordial invitation is extended to all Glendalians to attend.

ELECT OFFICERS AT P.T. MEETING

Glendale Avenue School to Have New Cafeteria In Operation Shortly

The annual meeting of the Glendale Avenue Parent-Teachers' association was full of interest to the members assembled at the school Thursday afternoon, for, in addition to electing new officers, the important announcement was made that the school cafeteria was practically ready to be opened and before the end of May would be in full operation.

This is the crowning event of the year to the Parent-Teachers' association as it is the tangible result of their strenuous efforts for the past year. It was also of interest to note that, as far as was possible, all supplies came from city merchants. The benches have been made by the school carpenters; the Glendale Sheet Metal works made the steam tables and sinks; much of the hardware was purchased from city dealers; the groceries are ordered and a manager has been engaged, and the last supplies are ready to be installed.

Will Open Shortly
A few days must elapse before the formal opening, but it is highly gratifying to the retiring officers to know the plant will be in full operation before the closing of the school year.

Mrs. O. H. Spradling presided at the meeting, and reports of activities of the past year were made by all officers and chairmen of standing committees.

CENSORSHIP FOR MOVIES PLANNED BY CLUB WOMEN

Supervision of Pictures to Be Live Issue When Convention Meets

Glendale women will have a chance to share in the stand American club women are going to take on movie censorship, at the Biennial of the General Federation June 3 to 13 in Los Angeles, and action on this matter promises to be one of the live events of the national gathering.

The General Federation has endorsed state censorship, but not federal censorship, but has not pushed the subject.

As a good background for the action the women will take in Los Angeles, will be a visit to Hollywood and the moving picture studios, which is scheduled on the Biennial program.

Quote Resolution
 At the Hot Springs Biennial in 1918 a resolution was adopted and has never been rescinded. It read:

"That the general federation recommended that all women in the various states use all possible effort toward extending the area which is protected by law from the influence of harmful films, including the legislatures of states, as well as from Pennsylvania, Ohio, Kansas and Maryland (where legal censorship then existed) to enact laws similar to the motion picture censorship laws of those states, governors to appoint suitable men and women to administer these laws, and in general to make and strengthen public opinion so that there may be authority at hand to cope with an evil which so seriously threatens the proper foundations of society."

New Fight Coming
 At the Chautauqua federation convention in 1922 plans for a campaign for censorship was launched. But Will H. Hays took a hand and convinced the women that, since he had assumed the cardom of movieland, no one need bother about censorship. So the matter was dropped.

Reports from Washington, D. C., location of headquarters of the General Federation, state that the present temper of the women indicates practical certainty that the censorship will come up again and a big fight will be made.

Fire Officials to Reveal Hazards in Talks Before P.-T.

Jay W. Stevens, state fire marshal and member of the National Board of Fire Underwriters, will deliver an address on "Fire Protection and Fire Prevention" at the Harvard street high school auditorium, Thursday, May 15, under the auspices of Glendale Community Service and the Parent-Teachers' Association.

Another number on the program will be a talk, illustrated with pictures, by Assistant Chief Rhodes of the Los Angeles fire department on "Fire Hazards in the Home." The men's quartette will sing during the program.

STUDENTS READY FOR FINAL TESTS

Examinations at Occidental Bring Anticipations of Commencement

With final examinations but four weeks off Occidental college students are beginning to anticipate commencement activities.

The examinations will begin June 6 and continue through June 11.

Opening the commencement program will be the senior class play, "Bacchanals," to be given Thursday night, June 12. Then there will follow reception to graduates Friday at the home of President R. D. Bird; "Commencement Day" Saturday, it being announced that senior class day begins in the morning at 10:30 o'clock. The graduating exercises are to be held at 2:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

Largest Class
 Reports state that the graduating class is the largest in the history of the institution and the scholarship average of the entire group is high.

Familiar Glendale names appearing on the list of graduates are Lorine Czerniski, 209 West Doran street; Mildred Elliott, 624 East Colorado street, and Thurston Harshman.

EXPERT CLAIMS WATER ASSURED FOR LARGE CITY

Can Supply Population of 100,000 if Properly Cared for Now

The water supply of the City of Glendale at the present time, if properly handled and stored, is sufficient to take care of a population of 100,000, according to Peter Diederich, superintendent of plant and production of municipal utilities.

The first deep well pump of the unit of three to be installed at the pumping plant at San Fernando road and Grandview avenue was put in commission yesterday, and materially increased the flow of the group of five wells to which it is attached.

The normal flow of the wells was 6700 gallons per minute, and as the pump will increase this 2,000 gallons per minute the flow is increased practically one third. When the additional two pumps are erected and in operation, the flow will be nearly doubled.

Work on Reservoir
 Work on the 15,000,000 gallon reservoir at Tenth and Western is progressing satisfactorily, according to Mr. Diederich. The excavation is practically finished by Kinne and Westerhouse, the contractors, and the piers are being placed. When ready for the storage of water, this reservoir will hold the overflow from the main line of the pumping plant at San Fernando road. The surplus over and above what the line uses will be diverted to the reservoir, which will provide a large supply in case of emergency or water shortage.

"Glendale has plenty of water at the present time, and with our present facilities I believe that I am safe in saying that we could care for 100,000 people," said Mr. Diederich yesterday. We are indeed fortunate in this respect, as many of the neighboring municipalities are facing a troublesome situation owing to the scarcity of rainfall the past winter.

The City of Glendale, through the public service department, was the successful bidder for the installation of ornamental lights on Glendale avenue and East Broadway.

Why I Am In Glendale

First—Because the climate is wonderful. While zero weather prevails in the east, California's warm sun shines upon velvety lawns, flowers in profusion, and trees laden with golden fruit.

Second—Because of surroundings. A city of 50,000 people, with beautiful homes, the best of schools, various churches, numerous factories, situated in a fertile valley with mountains on the north and west to shield it from cold winds and dampness from the ocean, only seven miles from the heart of Los Angeles, one of the largest cities in the world, with fine scenic boulevards and electric lines to all resorts and near-by places of interest.

Third—Because of a chance for investment where a good profit is almost guaranteed, as those who know it best are confident that Glendale will continue to live up to its name—"The Fastest Growing City in America."

Dr. H. C. Funk Speaker At Church Conference

Dr. H. C. Funk, pastor of the First Lutheran church of Glendale, was one of the speakers this week at the southern conference of United Lutheran churches of the Synod of California at Santa Barbara. Dr. Funk is also president, and his message on Tuesday night was on the subject, "Spiritual Comprehensiveness." Another address he gave was on Wednesday on the subject, "Opportunities Knocking at Our Door."

The discussions at the conference proved so interesting and helpful that they were continued an extra day. Subject discussions were "A Program for Our Church," "Liberalism or Fundamentalism, Which?" "Men and the Church," "The Secret of Winning Souls," and "The Gospel in an Age of Doubt." Next year the conference will be held in San Bernardino.

Trip East to Draw Shoe Interests Here

D. H. McGuire of 1249 East Wilson avenue leaves this week on an extensive trip throughout the east. Mr. McGuire is a former shoe manufacturer of Cincinnati, Ohio, and plans to visit many of the larger shoe manufacturers in Cincinnati, New York and other large cities on the eastern coast. He is an ardent booster for Glendale and hopes to induce others to locate here.

MAY CONSOLIDATE TWO CIVIC CLUBS

Move Launched for Merger At Meeting Held Last Night at School

A move to consolidate the Fourth street and the Foothill Improvement associations was launched last night at a meeting of the former body held in the Grand View school, Vice-President G. A. Gyger presiding. It was voted to invite the executive committee of the Foothill group to meet with the executive committee of the Fourth Street group.

This action was precipitated by rumors that people in the district south of San Fernando road are organizing an improvement association of their own, to be called the Western Avenue Improvement association. The object of the proposed consolidation is to effect one strong, body, rather than countenance three weaker ones, it was brought out at last night's meeting.

It was voted to request that the City Council provide a Pacific Electric crossing at Justin street. Mrs. M. B. Buckman pointed out the crowded school conditions in the district. President J. H. Randall of the association reported he believes he can get the Pelamont interests to permit Fourth street to go through their tract.

A communication was read from M. E. Brown, secretary of the Sycamore Canyon Improvement association, endorsing for his organization the proposed new Burbank-Glendale-Pasadena boulevard.

Shoppers Satisfied
 Worthwhile offerings were to be found in every department, and satisfaction reigned among the shoppers, as they went about from department to department, and from floor to floor, making their silver dollars and dollar bills purchase a good deal more than is ordinarily secured for the same money.

Mr. Webb is always enthusiastic about expressing his pleasure at being a Glendale merchant. "Glendale people are wonderful to serve and are above the average in their buying power," he said.

Bearing out this sentiment is Mr. Webb's success in building up a business that much larger cities would be justly proud of.

Montrose Entertainer In Private Recital

Miss Marie Walsh of Montrose appeared last night in her first private recital in the Sparr Heights community hall. She is a member of the professional department of the Emerson School of Self-Expression and is a talented entertainer.

Assisting with the program was Glen Myers, tenor, accompanied by Mrs. Myers. Miss Walsh's first group included miscellaneous poems, and the second playlet arranged in two scenes. In the last group he was assisted by Edwin Murphy.

'DOLLAR DAY' BIG SUCCESS AT STORE

Buyers Flock to H. S. Webb Store to Get Bargains Offered Glendaleans

"Dollar Day" yesterday at the H. S. Webb store on North Brand boulevard at Wilson avenue, more than came up to expectations of both purchaser and merchant, and once more proved that the Webb store is a Glendale store with the interest of Glendale people at heart.

So pleased was H. S. Webb with the success of the day that he was free to state that it was one of the best sales days in the history of his business.

Advertising exclusively in The Glendale Evening News announcement of the semi-annual "Dollar Day" was broadcasted to hundreds of Glendale homes, and yesterday morning, when the store opened, the throngs of shoppers began to arrive and continued crowding the store throughout the entire day.

Shoppers Satisfied
 Worthwhile offerings were to be found in every department, and satisfaction reigned among the shoppers, as they went about from department to department, and from floor to floor, making their silver dollars and dollar bills purchase a good deal more than is ordinarily secured for the same money.

Mr. Webb is always enthusiastic about expressing his pleasure at being a Glendale merchant. "Glendale people are wonderful to serve and are above the average in their buying power," he said.

Bearing out this sentiment is Mr. Webb's success in building up a business that much larger cities would be justly proud of.

FOR 100 PER CENT NAVY

Those who have felt that the American navy has been pared to the point where its efficiency is menaced will find comfort in the rousing declaration by Secretary of the Navy Curtis D. Wilbur of California:

"I stand for a 100 per cent navy, equal to that of any other power, plus a preponderance in those respects not covered by the disarmament treaty."

As the building of cruisers and other auxiliary craft is not limited by the treaty, Secretary Wilbur's declaration may be taken as assurance that our navy will be brought to its rightful efficiency without loss of time. He goes on to state, moreover:

"Although I say at least 100 per cent equality, I see no reason why we should not undertake also to advance our navy along lines not restricted by mutual agreement so that we will again be in a dominating situation, and then again secure mutual limitations on all activities along lines at present unrestricted by any treaty."

While this will ring anything but pleasantly in the ears of the extreme pacifists, it will echo the sentiments of the great majority of thinking Americans, who realize that, with approximately 10,000 miles of homeland coastline to guard, to say nothing of outlying possessions, the United States must have and maintain a navy second to that of no power on earth, in order to protect our institutions, which are the hope of the world.

Experts have asserted that far from being the equal of the British navy, that of the United States falls even below Japan's. While Secretary Wilbur brands such statements as "preposterous," he admits that we are not at present maintaining the 5-5-3 ratio.

As President Calvin Coolidge said in a recent speech, foreign powers will be far more likely to listen to our proposals for further limitation of armaments, if we first make the American navy impregnable.

KEEPING YOUNG

There is a frantic search these days for the fountain of youth. So many who have passed beyond the first flush of young manhood and womanhood are making tremendous efforts to retain the appearance of youth. We should not grow old, and it is our duty and should be our privilege to always make the best appearance possible.

Dr. Eliot of Harvard University, who recently celebrated his ninetieth birthday and is still virile in mind and body, ten years ago wrote the following prescription for keeping health and working power until eighty: "Eat moderately, sleep at least seven hours a night with windows open, take regular exercise in the open air every day, use no stimulants, enjoy all natural delights without excess in any, and keep, under all circumstances, as serene a spirit as your nature permits."

Nothing is said of goat glands, lifted faces, dyed and bobbed hair or cosmetics. This longing to retain youth is nothing new. Men and women have always had it. But youth and age are mental attitudes, the outward appearance has nothing to do with it only as the spirit is reflected in the face.

What a frequent sight and how pitiful, a woman bedecked in all the artificialities of today that not only cannot conceal the fact that she is old but add to her appearance of age. With a clean face, dressed in suitable styles and colors, hair arranged to become her, she might be attractive and youthful looking.

A serene spirit is the only thing that can make an old man or woman look young. Youth may be in the heart eternally and shine through the face, but all the art of the modern beauty specialist cannot apply youth to the face and make it real. Neither can the surgeon graft youth on a decaying spirit.

Keep young within. It is more satisfying than trying to apply youth externally.

TOO MANY LAWS

One of the duties that is going to confront our national, state and municipal law makers one of these days is the formulation of some plan to abridge the voluminous laws that now encumber our statute books. There has been for some time, and it still continues, a mania for making laws, for cluttering up the statute books without the slightest excuse. And so often our laws are couched in terms that can only be interpreted by lawyers. One of ordinary intelligence, without legal training, does not know, sometimes, whether a law means what it does mean or just the reverse. In fact, a Congressional enactment, the purpose of which was to conserve the oil in our naval reserves, was used as the basis and the justification for turning over to private interests a large share of these oil holdings.

Some of our laws are necessarily complicated and ramified, but some sort of simplification and elimination will be necessary before another hundred years are passed. Meanwhile our legislators go on passing laws.

GIVE THE MOVER HIS VOTE

It is unfortunate that citizens who find it necessary to move from one precinct to another thirty days or less before an election should be disenfranchised by the law, especially at the time of a presidential primary or election. Of course, there is an immense amount of work involved in making up the registration rosters between the closing of registration and the day of election, but it ought not to be so very difficult to evolve some plan of transfer that would make it possible for this citizen to vote.

Let him take his registration receipt to the registrar's office and get a transfer slip to present to the election officials in the new precinct. Election boards in both precincts could be furnished with duplicates of this transfer. This plan might not be practical, but it seems that anyone familiar with the detail work in the registrar's office could easily formulate some plan that would be workable.

STEALING FREEDOM

It is well to remember that the barking dog you are so fond of; the bird-killing cat you adore; the garden-scratching chickens you find profitable—but which you allow to run wild—may not find favor in your neighbors' eyes. To be kept awake night after night by the dog; to love song birds and see your neighbor's cat killing them; to plant a garden and have some stray chickens scratch up the seeds or devour your lettuce patch, always has—and always will—have a tendency to make trouble—neighborhood war. Consideration for others' feelings must play a part in our daily lives if harmony is to prevail. We should have freedom, in every way possible, but always that freedom should not be purchased at the expense of someone else. For that isn't purchasing freedom—it's really stealing it.

"GOSH, T' THINK I'D LIVE T' SEE TH' LIKE O' THIS!"

The Rules Of The Game

By DR. FRANK CRANE

There is no game that can possibly be played without keeping the rules. You cannot even play solitaire, and get any fun out of it, if you cheat yourself.

But most games are played with others and, if you do not keep the rules, the game suddenly comes to an end.

Every sort of human activity depends, for its pleasure and usefulness, upon laws of one sort or another.

You cannot get any good out of arithmetic if you insist that two and two equals five. Two and two must always equal four, even if the result is disaster.

Boys and girls can get no advantage from schooling unless they keep the rules of the schoolroom. If everyone does as he pleases the schoolroom is soon degenerated into an animal cage.

Everyone knows that no army can be successful unless there is strict adherence to the rules. Soldiers do not keep step merely to please the commander; they keep step because, if they didn't, they would be falling over each other.

You cannot have a successful business without obedience to rules.

You cannot enjoy a game of golf, or even of checkers or of marbles unless you keep the rules. You could not ride along the street in your automobile unless you and others obeyed the rules of the road.

If every motorist did as he pleased he would be in the ditch or up against a lamp post before he had gone two blocks. You cannot even go to an anarchist meeting and pass a resolution denouncing the government if everybody talks at once and nobody pays attention to his neighbor.

And morality itself is practically nothing more than keeping the rules of the game. The most deeply immoral person is the one who does as he pleases. He is not only immoral but he is extremely likely to be taken to the hospital.

Keeping the rules of the game is the only way in which the weak can be protected. Where there is no law nor respect for law there is the absolute tyranny of the strongest.

The purpose of rules in a game is to enable the players to have fun. Fools imagine that the purpose of rules is to keep people from having fun. Enjoyment is the legitimate son of order.

You cannot even get enjoyment out of making love unless you keep the rules of the game. For the great problem in love is not to fall in love; you can do that as easily as you fall over a cliff; the problem is to stay in love, to have love minister to life. And the only people who stay in love are those who keep the rules of the game.

NO LOANS FOR WAR

(From Santa Ana Register)

It is evident that if America is to lend Europe any more money, it will be not for war or militarism but for peaceful reconstruction, and that assurances will have to be given to this effect. Such a policy was hinted at by President Coolidge in a recent address. It is the general view of American bankers through whom any new loans will be made, and of the investing public that will furnish the money.

J. P. Morgan, now in France, is said to have given European bankers and statesmen a pointed suggestion along this line, in connection with the proposed loan to Germany. The Dawes plan is acknowledged to represent the most constructive program presented since the long reparation squabble began between Germany and the Allies. Mr. Morgan wants substantial agreement on that program, with guarantees based on it, before giving any assurance of his co-operation in the desired loan. With such precautions, the loan could be regarded as reasonably safe.

More substantial help might possibly be given the Allies, in the form of partial remission of their heavy indebtedness to this country, if they were to stop their big military expenditures, cut their armies and embark on a convincing peace program. That is to say, the United States, as part of a world disarmament policy, might be willing to subsidize peace to some extent, thus adding to the saving that heavily armed nations might make through curtailing their own expenditures for armament.

This is not at all a new idea, at Washington or in the American press, though Europe so far has paid little attention to it. America could make some such sacrifice without real loss, because of the big cut it would enable our government to make in its own military expenses, and because it would improve chances of collecting the balance of our European loans.

CERTIFICATES WORTHLESS?

(From Santa Ana Register)

When a motorist has gone to a garage officially designated by the state as a place where certificates may be issued showing motor lights to be in conformity with the law, and has his lights tested and has paid for such test, he ought to be spared the annoyance of being held up on the street at night by motor officers and made to go through another inspection. Perhaps this night inspection will be given some of the motorists a dozen times during the month of May.

The officers are quoted as saying that in their inspections on the streets they find that the lights of many of the drivers who present certificates of inspection are not in conformity with the rules.

Who is to blame for that? The motorist or the state authorities? What was all this campaign about a few months ago? Were motorists merely driven into places of inspection so that inspectors might make a fee?

To be sure, we do not question the sincerity of state authorities in calling for inspection certificates. We know that the answer to the second question is that the purpose was not to provide fees. But what we would like to know is this: If certificates were a clear bill of health five months ago, why aren't they now?

Do not misunderstand us in this one thing. We are in favor of anything and everything that will eliminate glaring headlights. They are a menace to life. We favor inspections anywhere and everywhere that will effectively rid the highways of glaring headlights. But, we do contend that the state ought to stand back of its own certificates.

Little Studies —of— Human Nature

A CONFIRMED GOSSIP

Human Nature is a confirmed gossip. It seems strange that one so old and wise as he must be so stupid to indulge in such a vice, for gossip is no less than a vice. In fact, when gossip is of a scandalous nature and involves the innocent or even the one who has not yet been proved guilty, gossip is a crime.

Gossip is cumulative. It travels like the wind and gathers force and volume as it goes. It is no more possible to direct its course, to stop it, or to limit it, than it is to control the wind. When a man steals a sum of money, the extent of his crime is known and it is possible to inflict just punishment upon him and to demand and receive restitution. When old Human Nature gossips, it is impossible to calculate the amount of harm he has done; there is no punishment prescribed for him, and in no way can he make restitution.

Whether it be friend or enemy involved, whether the story is true or is merely supposition, old Human Nature delights in passing it on. Why this should be so is impossible of explanation. The one who gossips is not benefited and the other may be irreparably harmed. As Shakespeare said, "He who flitches from me my good name robs me of that which not enriches him and makes me poor indeed."

Gossip sometimes seems justified. We are outraged at the way some one is carrying on. He may deserve the worst that may be said about him. But of what use is gossip? The one who deserves it is not affected by it. His acts and their consequences will be his punishment. It is only the innocent who are harmed by gossip, for no matter how conscientiously we may retract our statements, there will be some who heard the first story who will not hear the retraction and some who hear the retraction will prefer to believe the worst.

An Italian legend has it that a certain man who had slandered an innocent one confessed to his priest. The priest gave him a sack of down and told him to drop a small bit of it into every garden in the town. The man came back and said he had finished his penance, but not so. The priest said he must go back and gather up again every little bit of this down. This was an impossibility. Just so with gossip. It is easy to disseminate but absolutely impossible to gather back the words that have been so thoughtlessly and so needlessly scattered.

Gossips are sometimes murderers for they often kill that which is of more value than life. And gossips have often hounded the innocent until they have taken their own lives. Human Nature, why do you persist in such a pernicious practice?

The After House

By MARY ROBERTS RINEHART

Copyright, 1924, by The McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

THE STORY

Dr. Ralph Leslie, just graduated from medical college, and just over an attack of typhoid fever, ships on the yacht Elisa as a sort of deck steward. He is penniless and thinks this will be a good opportunity to recuperate. Marshall Turner is the owner. His wife, her sister Elsa, a divorcee named Mrs. Johns, and a man named Vail are the passengers. Turner is dissipated and evidently jealous of his wife and Vail. There is a crew of fourteen, including the stewardess, a maid named Karen Hansen, the cook and Williams, the butler, Charlie Jones, a German sailor with a bent for religion, is friendly to Leslie. Captain Richardson and Turner have an argument over running the ship. Turner, drunk, appoints Singleton captain. Richardson knocks Singleton down and threatens to put Turner in irons if he interferes with the running of the boat. Mrs. Johns asks Leslie to sleep near the passengers' staterooms, in a pantry, as she is afraid of trouble. One night Schwartz, the second mate, disappears overboard, though nobody sees him jump. On the night of August 12 Leslie wakes in the pantry to find himself locked in. Vail, Captain Richardson and the maid, Karen, are murdered with an ax. The men put Leslie in charge, and they decide to head back to port. The ax is found where it was flung into the stewardess's berth. She says that Karen had been roused by a bell in the night, she thought Mrs. Turner's, but Mrs. Turner says she did not ring. Karen told the stewardess she thought Turner, who had annoyed her, was outside the door. She opened the door, screamed, and fell dead. Mrs. Sloane said she saw a figure in white in the door throw the ax toward her. The crew imprisons Singleton, Leslie and Burns share responsibility for keeping up discipline. They lock the ax in the captain's cabin and Leslie takes the key. The other key, the one to the pantry, has not been found. "Find that and you will find the man who locked you in," says Elsa. They put the bodies in a lifeboat. Leslie and Elsa find that the bell that called Karen registered Vail's room. Leslie sees Elsa pick up a key in Turner's room. Turner gets delirious tremors and yawns about Vail. Elsa tries to throw the pantry key into the sea, but Leslie sees her and she gives it to him. At night Adams, in the crew's nest, says he has seen a white figure crawling along the deck. He hurled down a marlinpike, which disappears.

XVII—A KNOCKING IN THE HOLE

One or two of the men were already showing signs of strain. Oleson, the Swede, developed a chill, followed by fever and a mild delirium, and Adams complained of sore throat and nausea. Oleson's illness was genuine enough. Adams suspected of malingering. He had told the men he would not go up to the crew's nest again without a revolver, and this I would not permit.

Our original crew had numbered nine—with the cook and Williams, eleven. But the two negroes were not seamen, and were frightened into a state bordering on collapse. Of the men actually useful, there were left only five: Clarke, McNamara, Charlie Jones, Burns and myself; and I was a negligible quantity as regarded the working of the ship.

With Burns and myself on guard duty, the burden fell on Clarke, McNamara and Jones. A suggestion of mine that we release Singleton was instantly vetoed by the men. It was arranged, finally, that Clarke and McNamara take alternate watches at the wheel, and Jones be given the lookout for the night, to be relieved by either Burns or myself.

I watched the weather anxiously. We were too short-hauled to manage any sort of a gale; and yet, the urgency of our return made it unwise to shorten canvas too much. It was as well, perhaps, that I had so much to distract my mind from the situation in the after house.

The second of the series of curious incidents that complicated our return voyage occurred that night. I was on watch from eight bells midnight until four in the morning. Jones was in the crew's nest, McNamara at the wheel. I was at the starboard forward corner of the after house, looking over the rail. I thought that I had seen the lights of a steamer.

The rain had ceased, but the night was still very dark. I heard a sort of rapping from the forward house, and took a step toward it, listening. Jones heard it, too, and called down to me, nervously, to see what was wrong.

I called up to him, cautiously, to come down and take my place while I investigated. I thought it was Singleton. When Jones had taken up his position at the companionway, I went forward. The knocking continued, and I traced it to Singleton's cabin. His window was open, being too small for danger, but barred against the storm of wood outside, like those in the after house. But he was at the door, hammering frantically. I called to him through the open window, but the only answer was renewed and louder pounding.

I ran around to his door, and felt for the key, which I carried.

"What is the matter?" I called.

"What is it?"

"For God's sake open the door!"

I unlocked it and threw it open.

He retreated before me, with his hands out, and hid behind the door.

I struck a match. His face was drawn and distorted, and he held his arm up as if to ward off a blow.

I lighted the lamp, for there were no electric lights in the forward house, and stared at him, amazed. Satisfied that I was really Leslie, he had stooped and was fumbling under the window.

way. As soon as the city attorney checks over the proceedings and finds them without flaw, the city will order the material the same as any private contractor, and the work of putting ornamental stand-

We have this condition every year and it does not signify that business is falling off. Our busy time is in the fall of the year when the tourist rush begins. In the spring when so many eastern people return home, business is always light, in comparison, with us."

HILARITY REIGNS AS PUPILS PLAY 'SPICE OF 1924'

Rolling Comedy Program Staged by Students of Wilson Ave. School

By RUTH SPAFFORD

Of The Evening News Staff.
Ringling applause marked the hilarious course of last night's presentation of "The Spice of 1924" at the Wilson Avenue Intermediate school auditorium by the A-8 classes. The proceeds of the affair will be applied toward the fund for the new curtains that have been hung in the auditorium, and which the A-8 class has promised to pay for.

And when the final curtain descended, and the nine acts were ended, with their vivid whirl of color and song and joy, the large audience sighed with regret that it was over—for they would gladly have sat there another hour, had the same high quality of entertainment continued to be served.

During the course of the program it was evinced that musical talent and accomplishments comprise one of the biggest assets of Glendale's growth and recognition as "the fastest growing city of its size in America."

"The Spice of 1924" was indeed a talented performance, as each number was artistically presented and heartily received, and all combined in a well-balanced program of more than usual worth.

Many Pupils in Cast

About seventy-five of the A-8 pupils appeared on the program, which was full of color and fun.

The Wilson Wizards, Philip Goss and John Torrey of the A-8 III class, were clever in the roles of blackface comedians, and created many laughs.

The French Dolls, girls of the A-8 II class, were indeed doll-like in their dainty summer frocks, and their songs and dances were excellently done.

The Parktown Happy-Go-Lucky Minstrels, pupils of the A-5 IV class, presented a riotous program of blackface comedy which in itself demonstrated a minstrel company of exceptional talent.

Old Family Album
The audience certainly appreciated every minute of The Old Family Album, which had been hunted out to supply laughs by the A-8 III's. Doris Harris, who introduced the various members of the family, was particularly clever. The characters made their appearance in a large album. Their costumes and poses caused a riot of mirth and applause.

The Black Cat orchestra, composed of members of the A-8 V class, was also an enjoyable selection. Their costumes were clever, made to represent cats, and their musical selections were splendid.

The pantomime, "Sleeping Beauty," given by the A-8 I class, included four scenes of beauty and grace. The costumes were elaborately carried out and added a bright touch to the entire performance.

The Girls of '61, in the quaint, old-fashioned costumes and dances, were especially delightful.

NEW GYMNASIUM TO COST $200,000

Oxy President Planning for Additional Equipment for University

EAGLE ROCK, May 9.—A $200,000 gymnasium is planned for Occidental college by President Ramsen du Bois Bird, the veteran promoter of big things for this rapidly growing institution. Myron Hunt, college architect, is already at work on the plans for a magnificent building, which will adjoin Patterson field, and will include a large swimming pool. Dr. Arthur Buell of Long Beach, an Occidental alumnus, made the first gift with a check of $5,000.

Campaign Leader
David Faries, chief counselor of the Southern California Automobile club, has been elected chairman of the campaign which is to be conducted by the alumni. Associated with him in the committee of direction are Alphonzo Bell, Max Hayward, Dr. Arthur Buell, Dan Hammaack and Frank Rush. Under this committee of direction there is organized a committee of twenty, and under this a committee of 200. Each one of these 200 persons is seeking to raise $1,000 apiece by September 1.

The reorganization of the department of physical education has been undertaken, and it is the intention of the college to give special emphasis to the work of a corrective nature, intracollegiate sport and training of physical education directors for the public schools. Special features of the new building will be a basketball circus, a regulation swimming pool, a faculty gymnasium, trophy room, general clubrooms and offices for the members of the physical education department.

SALVATION ARMY CORPS PLANNED

Civic Organizations Pledge Support in Raising the Necessary Funds

BURBANK, May 9.—A Salvation Army corps is to be organized here, sponsored by the various civic organizations. The following resolution has been adopted: "Resolved, That there is need in and about the city of Burbank for the establishment of a Salvation Army corps in the city, and that this committee recommends that the various organizations here represented promise their moral support to the army and join in an endeavor to raise the sum of $2,000 and assist in the establishment of a Salvation Army corps in Burbank."

Alternative Plan
The resolution was adopted after two propositions had been suggested. One of these contemplated merely the establishment of a corps of the army in this city, while the other included likewise the purchase of property, with the idea of providing a permanent headquarters for the army. In the first case, the budget to be raised by popular subscription would be only $2,000 for the first year's work, while the second proposition would call for the raising of an additional $4,000 to provide a first payment on permanent headquarters.

Aviator Will Join Search for Martin In Alaskan Wilds

SAN FRANCISCO, May 9.—Earle S. Tonkin, assistant air officer at Crissy field here, will fly Saturday to Seattle to embark on the coast guard cutter Bear to conduct an air search in Alaskan wilds for Major Frederick L. Martin, missing commander of the American round the world fliers. Orders calling for Tonkin to join in the search for Major Martin were received at army headquarters here yesterday.

A Curtiss airplane and 100 gallons of fuel will be placed on board the Bear for Tonkin's use.

OPEN HOUSE FOR LEGION'S GUESTS

Veterans of Verdugo Hills Post Present Program At Entertainment

LA CRESCENTA, May 9.—Spar Heights was the scene of the first open house meeting given by the Verdugo Hills Post, No. 23 of the American Legion. Quite a crowd had accepted the "buddies" invitation to be their guests, for whom they had prepared an interesting program as follows:

"America," led by Mrs. A. F. Hopkins; dance, very cleverly executed by Ellen Karm; Comrade Hoover, who is a very clever pianist, gave an excellent solo; Captain Southwick spoke on the subject of boys. He was exceptionally well received and will come up as the guest of the new Boy Scout patrol, tonight. Dialect readings by Virginia Ellis were heartily applauded; Mrs. Lowe sang beautifully, accompanied by Mrs. J. McDonald, of Highway Highlands.

Dance Is Planned
Comrade Baron delighted every one by his violin playing; Mrs. R. Q. MacDonald, playing an extremely difficult piano solo, received well merited applause; Mrs. Mary B. Darrow, speaking on Americanization, was also well received; community singing of the old trench songs such as "Mr. Zip-Zip-Zip," "Lil' Liza Jane," "Smiles," etc., with "America" as the last, concluded an interesting program. Delicious refreshments were served by the "buddies" after which Comrade Hoover and Arthur Crowell played for the guests and hosts to dance. The "buddies" will give an exceptionally good musical entertainment tonight in La Crescenta school-house.

New Lumber Yard
W. R. Letton is opening a new lumber yard at the corner of Pennsylvania and Montrose avenues. The new yard will be open about the first of next week.

Funeral services were held yesterday for the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Durr of Highway Highlands. Interment was in Grand View Memorial Park. The drama section of the Woman's club met at the home of Mrs. Jessie L. Hansen at 10 a. m. this morning. All brought sandwiches, the hostess furnishing coffee.

MANY PROGRAMS FOR MUSIC WEEK

Mexican Artists Please at Edison School; Piano Recital Tonight

BURBANK, May 9.—The Mexican musicale at the Thomas A. Edison school last night proved one of the most unique entertainments ever offered in this city. Tonight there will be a piano recital at the Edison auditorium by Mr. Simmons under the auspices of the Methodist church choir; another concert by the Burbank Municipal band at the city hall Saturday night; Mothers' day program at the Benmar Hills garden hall Sunday afternoon and Italian musical at the Palais Majestic Sunday evening.

The entertainment that will be offered by the Woman's club is partially veiled in mystery by deliberate intention of those who are sponsoring it, and it is going to keep the audience guessing to know what will be the next thing to come, but it will entertain them, without question. The entertainment will be a cinematic-musical. Alexander Stuart, executive director of the Civic Music and Art association of Los Angeles, was let in on the secret, and he said he had never heard of anything just like it and it should make a big hit. In the program of music on this particular evening, there will be a trio, solo, quartet, violinist from the east, harp solos and harp accompaniment.

WILL AID DRAMA LEAGUE MEETING

Eagle Rock and Pasadena to Help Make Convention Assured Success

EAGLE ROCK, May 9.—This community will co-operate with Pasadena in making a success of the annual convention of the Drama League of America, held there this year from May 27 to June 2. The Eagle Rock Valley Players, looking forward to the event, and their director, Mrs. Elgie Lowry Fischer, will participate in the program.

Two sessions of the convention will be devoted entirely to the work of the non-professional theatre. In this connection an important address will be that of Capt. Paul Perigord, president of the Pasadena Players, entitled "The Larger Significance of the Little Theatre." Women's Clubs and the Little Theatre will be discussed by Mrs. Clara Bryant Heywood; and Mrs. Thomas G. Win-1924, president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, is also on the program.

Theatre Problems
Irving Pichel, head of the Playhouse, Berkeley, will lead the round table discussion on little theatre problems. Others scheduled to contribute to it are Oliver Hinsdale, Dallas, Texas; Frayne Williams, Los Angeles; Daniel Quirk, Ypsilanti, Mich.; Miss Neely Dickson, Hollywood; Gilmore Brown, Pasadena; Miss Nina Moise, Santa Barbara; S. J. Hume, Berkeley—each of the directors of little theatres in their respective communities.

One session will be devoted to the dramatic work that is being done in the high schools and colleges of the land. Dr. Margaret S. Carhart will be in charge of this. An interesting part will be the stagecraft exhibition, composed of designs, models and costumes assembled by Louise Pickney Sooy, of the University of California. Other sessions of the convention are to be devoted to the professional theatre. Augustus Thomas, John Emerson, Guy Bates Post and other prominent stage folk have promised to take part.

CAPACITY CROWD ENJOYS RECITAL

Marie Walsh and Glen Myers Present Program at Sparr Heights

MONTROSE, May 9.—Miss Marie Walsh last night gave a splendid recital to a capacity audience in the Sparr Heights community house.

Presenting, as she did, a diversified program, Miss Walsh showed her capabilities in a striking manner. Her pianologues were a revelation to her audience, while her clever handling of the varied situations that arise in "The Silent System" was the work of a professional. Miss Walsh is on the staff of the Emerson School of Self-Expression.

Assisting Miss Walsh on the program was Glen Myers, tenor. Mr. Myers, accompanied by his wife, sang several very beautiful songs which were most pleasing. Miss Walsh's floral tributes from her numerous friends filled the back of her car. Both Miss Walsh and the Myers are residents of this community.

The ladies of the Montrose Community church will give a bazaar and dinner tonight in the church. Everyone is cordially invited to attend. The dinner tickets are 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for children.

Itinerant Bandit Trio Kidnap, Rob Three

EUGENE, Ore., May 9.—Three itinerant bandits, armed with rifles and in a high-powered car, swooped down upon Eugene and after compelling L. M. Miller of Elmira, F. M. Byle and Claude Waggoner of this city to climb in rushed them to the outskirts of the city and robbed them of small amounts. A report said the robbers were believed to have crossed the Harrisburg ferry. Local police believe the machine was a Dixie flyer stolen from W. J. Seaver, Eugene merchant, early in the evening.

A gearless auto has been invented. It combines the use of gasoline with compressed air.

SISLER'S OFF-DAY

Sisler had little to do with the fact that the Browns beat the Indians, 4 to 1, except that he hit a single and a homer, stole a base and accepted fifteen chances. George's activities accounted for three runs in all. Wingard, a college recruit, turned the Indians back with six hits.

Windows of the Switchboard

A SIGNAL shows on the switchboard, a telephone number is asked for, and a wire highway is created over which two persons may send their words and thoughts, one to the other.

Over forty million times a day these messages pass over the wires of the Bell System, to attract negotiations between buyer and seller, to keep homes and hearts united, to summon aid or protection in emergencies.

To find the worth of this service would mean to look into nearly every home and office, nearly every shop and factory, in America, to watch how the nation's habits of life are geared to the power of communication.

The telephone operator cannot follow her work to its results, but she can appreciate its importance. In her keeping is part of a great mechanism of nation-wide intercommunication, but those whom she serves and the benefits of her service remain unknown. Each summons for her cooperation is of equal urgency, for each helps to further the progress of the community and the nation.

HEAVY HITTING HELPS OAKLAND TO BEAT ANGELS

Krug's Crew Leading 8-2 at Start of Ninth; But Oaks Win 13-8

By R. C. FRANKLIN
For Southland News Service.
LOS ANGELES, May 9.—Los Angeles went into the ninth inning yesterday with a large enough margin to win three ball games, but the fighting Oakland club came from behind and, when the dust had cleared away, J. Cal Ewing's outfit had sent six men across the rubber, and the score was tied at eight tallies apiece.

Oakland went wild in their half of the tenth inning, and shoved across five markers to win with a grand total of thirteen runs to the Angels' eight. Marty Krug sent in about his whole pitching staff, but the Oaks took them all alike, and slammed hits first one way and then the other. Old Doc Crandall was sent to the bull pen before the tenth had ended, and no doubt he would have been in the fray had another hit been registered.

TIGERS 8, SEALS 6

SAN FRANCISCO, May 9.—Bill Essick's clawing Tigers, with tails up, ears flat and whiskers out straight scratched their way back into a tie for first place yesterday by besting the Seals, 8 to 6, in a hectic game won and lost in the ninth inning.

The Vernon crew overcame a four-run lead gathered by the Seals in the third when they scored as many runs in the fourth. Opposed to Shellenbach, the Vernon ace, was left Burger, until he was derelicted in the ninth to make room for Shovel Hodge.

The Seals outdid the visitors 10 to 8, but the bunching of three safeties in the ninth by the Tigers was the undoing of the bay crowd. This gives the Tigers two games out of three, and causes Mr. Bert Ellison much annoyance. Every game is a sell-out, with the prediction that Sunday's double-header will draw the largest crowd in the history of the game in San Francisco.

Dynamiters Hook Up With Citrus Today

This afternoon the Glendale Dynamiters are playing the Citrus baseball team on the latter's field. The local team has found its stride now and expects to finish the remaining six games without dropping one. Coach Butterfield will use either Charlie Smith or Lefty Brooks on the mound against the Lemons. Both men have shown that they are capable of pitching a good brand of ball, and if one is knocked from the box the other will be able to go in and perhaps save the game.

LEWIS IS WINNER

BOSTON, May 9.—Strangler Lewis, world's heavyweight wrestling champion, received the decision over Stanley Stasiak, Polish champion, on a foul, when the latter knocked out Lewis with a blow on the jaw last night. Lewis declared himself unable to continue and Referee Avery, of St. Joseph, Mo., awarded the champion the match.

THE GIANT'S FIND

TRAVIS JACKSON THE 20 YEAR OLD LAD WHO TAKES BANCROFT'S JOB ON THE GIANTS

The New York Giants will start this season with a young fellow at shortstop who is filling up the gap left by one of the ablest shortstops in the game—Dave Bancroft.

This young lad, who is but 20 years of age, was the leading utility infielder of last year, having subbed very successfully for Heinie Groh at third, Bancroft at short, and Frisch at second. He is none other than that remarkable and well known citizen of the town of Waldo, Ark.—Travis Jackson.

John McGraw said of Travis when he first took a peek at him last spring down in San Antonio:

"There's the man I have been looking for for a good many years. He is one of the most natural ball players I have ever seen. He is a coming star and you mark my words."

Mac has the utmost confidence in Jackson to fill the gap and the kid is full of it himself. He is anxious to prove that his manager and boss knows a ball player when he sees one, and has been fielding like a fiend and socking the old apple all spring.

Jackson played during his school days on his home team in Waldo, Ark., but didn't shine till he went to Ouachita University where Kid Elberfeld saw him and signed him to play with the Little Rock club. Here he proved a sensation. Elberfeld recommended Jackson very strongly to McGraw, who bought the player and now thinks he has a second Frankie Frisch.

Jackson and Frisch have been showing some pretty snappy team work in the practice games down South and hope soon to be as classy a pair around the keystone sack as Thicker and Evers of the old Cubs were.

SALTY TAR AND LANDLUBBERS IN HOLLYWOOD RING

Plenty of Action Promised On Card Tonight With Gobs as Guests

About all that will be lacking to make it a regular navy night at Hollywood Stadium tonight will be the well-known bottle of rum, and that may even be there in some gentleman's hip pocket.

Six sailors, four of them all-navy champions in their class, are on the bill, and Dan Tobey will do a hornpipe between bouts in a regular he-sailor's uniform. A navy band will be on hand, and a large gathering of gobs from the Pacific fleet will be present to see their stars wipe up the earth with the land lubbers Tom Kennedy has picked to fight the sailors.

Mushy Callahan and Johnny Adams meet in the headliner, boxing one of the elimination bouts in the championship division of the lightweight tournament to determine the Pacific coast title. Jack Kennedy, boxing instructor on the U. S. S. Mississippi, will referee in the absence of George Blake, who is going to make the trip to Boston with the Olympic boxers.

The bouts other than the feature event are: Eddie Trembley vs. Sailor Richey King, 126 pounds; Frankie Novey vs. Sailor Akol, 115 pounds; Tom Kelly vs. Sailor Hector, 155 pounds; Kid Louie vs. Sailor Richey King, 126 pounds; Sailor Dan Toomey vs. Billy Hart, 118 pounds; Sailor Mariat vs. Young Gomez, 118 pounds.

PLANS NEW LAWS TO COVER BOUTS

Donn Shields Sponsors Act Legalizing Ten-Round Matches Here

Donn Shields, assistant surveyor general of California for sixteen years, member of American Legion Post No. 61 of Sacramento and one of the most ardent boxing fans in the west, is in the southern part of the state to set in motion the machinery to obtain the necessary signatures for the initiative measure to be submitted to the electors this fall, which would legalize boxing bouts in California under the commission form of government.

The work in this section of the state will be in charge of Assemblyman Joe Pedrotta, who withdrew a measure in which he was interested in the belief that the Shields proposal is better adapted to California.

Under the provisions of the Shields measure, ten-round bouts to a decision, or twelve-round bouts without a decision are permitted. The latter clause was incorporated in the measure at the request of several of the Legion posts in smaller cities, which hope thereby to attract high class boxers to this state without the fear that they would lose their titles or prestige through the decisions of "small town referees."

State to Get Share
Five per cent of the gross receipts of all matches would be paid in to the state treasurer, who after the expenses of the commission are paid, would divert the remainder to the maintenance of homes for the veterans of any war of the United States, to be apportioned as the state legislature directs.

The commission will consist of three members who shall serve without compensation, save for office and traveling expense. The office of the commission will be in Sacramento, with a secretary in charge, whose salary shall be $3,600 per year, the bill provides.

The bill also provides that no boxing matches may be held in a building used wholly or partially for religious purposes, and no bouts are permitted on Sunday, Memorial day or Armistice day.

The control of promoters, boxers, managers and seconds is provided for in the measure, which is patterned after the Wisconsin law, generally recognized as the most efficient of all state boxing laws. It is the first bill which provides for both decision and no-decision bouts.

Shields says that the bill is receiving encouraging support in the smaller towns and in Los Angeles and Oakland. It is, however, being opposed by some of the four-round promoters in San Francisco.

FOR GAME'S SAKE

By LAWRENCE PERRY
By Special Leased Wire to The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924.

NEW YORK, May 9.—Carl Fischer's resignation from the Davis and Olympic tennis squads completes the list of those who are supposed to capitalize their tennis reputations through journalistic endeavor. It should be noted that Fischer's resignation relates to squads, not to teams. Next we shall have resignations for one reason or another—but mainly it may be suspected for the sake of advertising—of umpires, linesmen and so on.

Fischer, however, is a good tennis player. He ranks seventh in the national rating and is an intercollegiate champion. The fact that he stood small chance of making the Davis Cup team indicates merely that he is not quite so proficient at the game as several other players are.

From opinions gathered among men interested in various forms of amateur sport, including tennis, it is clear that Tilden's side of the player-writer matter is helped not a little by doubt as to just what an amateur is.

In its essence, there is no dissenting opinion to the theory that pure amateurism would preclude any man from claiming a right to stand in this category who takes expenses for playing from any club or individual, who accepts supplies from sporting goods houses in return for the use of his name, or who derives advantage in the way of financial return, or in other ways, because of his prestige. Board and lodging in Florida, for instance.

The trouble with this attitude is that it would keep everyone but young men of wealth out of the amateur ranks. This would not be at all just or sensible. Yet it would work out this way. We have no leisure class in this country and if tennis and other amateur sports are to develop and be represented by players as good if not better than any in the world, lines cannot be drawn too rigidly.

It is thus believed that this whole matter of amateurism should be overhauled to the end that those who govern sport should not say one thing and mean another, as has to be done under our present standards.

Some middle course lying between the manner in which Tilden capitalizes this world's title and the technical standards applying to amateurism that now exist might be outlined and be accepted by the public as fair and reasonable. But as the situation stands Tilden is not the only one who cashes on his prestige.

INVITE BOYS AS GUESTS AT GAME

Youth to See Big Contest Without Climbing Over Fence at Park

Nobody ever heard of an honest-to-goodness boys' week without a ball game, and Glendale's celebration next week will be no exception to the rule.

Through the co-operation of Arthur H. Dibbern, chairman of the Boys' Week committee of the Rotary club, and Frank Kerwin, owner of the White Sox park, a real ball game will be staged a week from Saturday. And the kids will not be obliged to "sneak in" or view the pastime through the time honored knot hole. No sir, all kids of the city are to be there. Just how the admission is to be arranged has not been definitely settled as yet, but some plan will be worked out whereby all the "Skinneys" and the "Reds" will be on hand in the grand stand when the ump shouts "Play ball."

Kerwin has tentatively arranged to have his White Sox team, one of the fastest semi-pro organizations in this category, perform for the edification of the youngsters against some team of similar class. Full announcement as to the plans will be made early enough next week to allow the boys to arrange their plans accordingly.

Coach Normal Hayhurst is planning for a serious of inter-class games at the high school, with a possibility that the varsity team will play a game against another team from the Central league. The Glendale grammar schools will also probably arrange inter-school contests.

What happens to your clothes when you have them "re-newed" by the Fanset cleaning process?

Part 4 of a Series

"The Spotter"—Trade Secrets Handed Down For Centuries From Father To Son.

Spotting is a skilled profession. But few master it. Each spot is a study in itself. Maybe it's a grass stain on silk. Possibly a fruit stain on linen. Or if you are a millionaire, maybe it's a gin stain on wool. Each spot requires a different treatment, to remove every trace of the spot, and not injure the fabric.

In the Fanset process stains are removed from clothing by an expert, descended from a family of cleaners. Rarely indeed is a spot found that does not yield to this skillful treatment.

Novel Motor Trips in the Southland

Off the beaten path in Southern California are many interesting sights the average motorist never dreamed existed!—little known historical spots—areas of unusual scenic beauty—newly-discovered geological wonders. SOX WILL PLAY TROLLEY SQUAD AT PARK SUNDAY

Cruz, Latest Addition to Kerwin's Hurling Staff, Will Be on Mound

With two wins in two starts tucked away under their belts, Carl Sawyer's White Sox tackle the fast-stepping Pacific Electric here next Sunday in the third game of the summer league schedule.

Just how good the Sox will be depends largely upon the effectiveness of Cecil Cruz, ex-Vernon heaver, who has been signed to take the place of Archie Thornton, departed for Washington, after turning in some ten wins for the pale horse.

Cruz did not get much of a chance to show his stuff for Bill Essick in the face of the competition furnished by Shellenbach, Christian, Penner, et al. He claims that with more work he would have rounded into good shape and expects to get that work with the Sox.

Lineup Changed

Of course he will not have to show as much "stuff" to beat the Pacific Electric as he would require in the coast loop, and figures that he has enough up his sleeve to beat the trolley men.

Kerwin has changed his lineup considerably during the past few games, owing to sickness and the transfer of former White Sox regulars. He fully expects to have Dorman back this week. The crack left fielder has been quarantined with smallpox and expected to be in uniform last Sunday, but the doctors would not allow it.

The first base position, which has caused no end of trouble, seems to be capably filled by Shellenbach of Lankershim, who contributed nicely in the rally that beat the Pasadena Merchants last Sunday. Ennis will again do the catching for the Sox, with the regular gardeners and infielders on the job.

Lorin Ury was quite peeved over last Sunday's decision. He claimed that Affleck missed two perfect strikes when Thomas was heaving to Davis, and that if these had been called, the four-run rally would have subsided. Two runs had already been scored at the time, and granting there is some merit to Ury's contention, the game would have been a tie, at least.

By far the worst decision of the day was in the second inning, when a bawling umpire, name unknown, called Shellenbach out at third. Drunert never even touched him with the ball, as Shell upset him when sliding back to the bag. He was safe by a wide margin. The gentleman arbiting on the bases was out of position, holding a confab at first. He received a strong "Bronx cheer" for his mis-cue.

No matter who umpires at the White Sox park, visiting teams seem to think that the Sox get the breaks, as Frank Kerwin is secretary of the Managers' association and hires the strike-callers. Such is far from the case, however. At no game in Glendale since the start of the Triple A league have the Sox received any of the best of it. The umpiring has not at all times been up to par, but it was due to inefficiency, not partiality.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

NEW YORK, May 9.—A general rain in the east caused the postponement of all games scheduled in the National league yesterday and two of the four in the American league.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

BOSTON, May 9.—Howard Ehmke of Glendale, and Walter Johnson, ace of the Boston and Washington pitching staffs, respectively, engaged in a pitching battle here yesterday afternoon and the former won, 4 to 2. Ehmke held Washington to five hits, while the Red Sox found Johnson for six. The home team scored two runs in the first inning and the visitors were unable to overcome this handicap.

Washington, 0 1 0 1 0 0 0—2; Boston, 2 0 1 0 0 0—4.

Johnson and Ruel; Ehmke and O'Neill.

Browns 4; Indians 1.

CLEVELAND, May 9.—George Sisler's playing beat the Indians single handed here yesterday afternoon, when St. Louis routed Cleveland, 4 to 1. The St. Louis star was responsible for three of the visitors' four runs, one of his hits being a home run. He accepted fifteen chances without an error, fielding in sensational style.

St. Louis, 4 0 0 1 2 0 0—4; Cleveland, 0 0 0 1 0 0 0—1.

Winward and Severid; Smith and L. Sewell.

Young Stribbling Wins Easily From Conley

YOUNGSTOWN, O., May 9.—Young Stribbling easily won his twelve round bout here last night from the Seattle thunderbolt, Billy Conley. Stribbling was knocked down in the first round. From that time on Stribbling pounded Conley unmercifully and easily won every round. Stribbling weighed 166½, Conley 161 pounds.

More than 100,000,000 square feet of reinforced rubber flooring will be used annually, according to estimates based on the rapid growth of its popularity.

Nine Are Eligible to Make Trip to Boston

The finals in the Southern California elimination bouts for prospective Olympic boxers were held last night at Doyle's arena in Vernon, and as a result, nine maulers are eligible to make the trip to Boston to compete in the fights which will decide who is to make the trip to Paris.

Hayden Phythian, sensational light-heavyweight from U. S. C. again won his match when he beat Scott Paffenberg in a bout that had to go an extra round before the judges could make a decision. It is rumored that he will retire and let Joe Woods make the trip to Boston.

The following boxers are entitled to make the trip:

Light heavyweight—Hayden Phythian (U. S. C.) or Joe Woods (L. A. A. C.).

Middleweight—Ad Allegrini (L. A. A. C.).

Lightweight—Julius Jessick (L. A. A. C.).

Welterweight—Jackie Fields and Joe Salas, (both L. A. A. C.).

Flyweight—Fidel La Barba (L. A. A. C.).

Welterweight—Clayton Frye (L. A. A. C.).

Bantamweight—August Gotto (L. A. A. C.).

PRISONERS PLAY BALL

SACRAMENTO, May 9.—One hundred and fifty baseballs donated by the Vernon baseball club of the Coast league to honor prisoners now engaged in road work in Trinity county, were forwarded to the prison camp today by the state highway commission.

Appeals are being made to other teams in the Coast league to furnish the prisoners with bats, gloves and uniforms.

BASEBALL QUESTION BOX

If you have some question to ask about baseball—
If you want a rule interpreted—
If you want to know anything about a play or a play—
Write John B. Foster, the man who helped make the rules under which the game is played today. If you want a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Otherwise your question will be answered in this column.

Address: John B. Foster, Special Baseball Correspondent of The Evening News, 511 World Building New York.

Copyright 1924 by The QUESTION—Runners on first and third. Batter bunts and the runner on third scores. The ball is fielded to second. Runner from first apparently is forced out when the shortstop drops the ball and everybody is safe. How shall I score it?

ANSWER—Do not give the batter a sacrifice hit as he batted the ball into what should have been a double play. Give the shortstop an error.

QUESTION—Is Boone, who plays right field for the Boston Americans, a home run hitter who can hit the ball as far as Ruth?

ANSWER—Too much of a problem to answer that question. Boone has a reputation to make. He batted splendidly in the Texas league in 1923 but is likely to find the going harder in the American league.

QUESTION—Is it right for a player to trip another player who is running the bases? I have seen it done in professional baseball.

ANSWER—It is never right to trip a ball player. It is the meanest kind of muckersm and the fact that a professional ball player may do it to another is a disgrace. Serious injury may result any time from tripping. Accidents are enough without having premeditated assault.

EXPECT FOREIGN ENTRIES IN RACE

Ascot Speedway Head Sends Representative Abroad; Drive Thanksgiving

News received in Los Angeles early in April through private channels and verified later by press association announcement that the 500-mile race at Indianapolis on May 30 will have no foreign entry caused President George Bentel to dispatch to Europe John Vai, Italian sportsman, to represent the Ascot Speedway association in lining up entries for the $50,000 Thanksgiving day road race to be run over the four and one-half mile circuit over the hills adjacent to Ascot.

Vai is now on a boat near the European shore and will make a tour of English, German, Belgian, French, Italian and Austrian automobile factories with authority to accept entries and make shipping and transportation arrangements for the cars and driving crews which are nominated.

"The world will soon know about our great race," said Bentel last night. "This afternoon we had an airplane view photograph of the entire course taken. These, together with entry blanks, will be broadcasted within the next ten days. A representative of the speedway will visit Indianapolis during the big race there, and later cover the auto factory cities for the purpose of getting entries from the factories. Mr. Vai will offer inducements to the Fiat, Peugeot, Talbot, Mercedes, Sunbeam, Ballot and other European builders to send cars and drivers here."

Start Work Soon

Work on the new course will begin within the next two weeks and one car trail will be finished within the next month. Cars may then be sent around the course for regular practice. Aside from the possibility of a 200-mile motorbike race being run over the new course on July 4, there will be no contest stated thereon before Turkey day.

Entries for next Sunday's events at Ascot will close tonight. The Plantation stakes and Straw Hat derby will be the feature races in which Ralph De Palma, Leon Durray, Babe Stapp, Eddie Meyer, Jack Petticoat, Art Davidson and the other stars will participate.

A spectacular touch will be given Sunday's program through the running of the motorbike and ski-jump championships. The Targo Florio double cylinder motors will be sent over a springboard hurdle and will land in a sand bed 40 or 50 feet further along. The sport is most popular in England and Australia. Joe Petrilli, Italian, who will participate at Ascot Sunday, is the record holder for the stunt.

BELIEVE TILDEN WILL COME BACK

Indications Point to Star Being Reinstated in Good Graces Soon

By DAVIS J. WALSH
For International News Service.

NEW YORK, May 9.—From the hallowed atmosphere in which lawn tennis is played, discussed and sometimes mismanaged comes the intimation that William Tilden II, stormy petrel of its internal policies, would be returned to favor in time to appear in the Davis cup series for the United States. Tilden, affronted by the player-writer rule and Slocum Ward's report on the subject, has declared his services null for that particular occasion, but the good tidings are that all will soon be serene. It is said that he will be asked to return to the team, and that he will do just that.

The report was neither recognized nor commented upon in official circles, but the claim has been made that, behind the scenes, executive authority is moving toward a definite end.

That, it is declared, will take the form of a special meeting of the United States Lawn Tennis association, toto, and that the same will take place not later than one month from this date. Pro-Tilden sentiment, crystallizing in certain influential quarters in the association, is declared to be ready to force the hand of those who would bar all player-writers from lawn tennis after January 1 next.

Clubs and tennis sections throughout the country are going on record, pro and con, on the Tilden controversy, and officials are being urged to compromise with the Tilden element by permitting men who began tennis writing before the player-writer business was conceived to continue writing their masterpieces without surcease.

PICKS TENNIS TEAM

NEW YORK, May 9.—It was announced today by the United States Lawn Tennis association that R. Norris Williams, Vincent Richards, Francis T. Hunter and Watson Washburn had been selected as the lawn tennis team to represent America in the Olympic games at Paris this summer. Williams will act as team captain, it was stated.

DIAMOND TALES

By Special Leased Wire to The Evening News. Copyright 1924.

NEW YORK, May 9.—Omaha has a young second baseman who will be catching the eye of the big league scouts soon. He is not already doing so. He is Thompson, whom the Omaha club obtained from Grand Island, Neb. Thompson's record is not spectacular, but in his first four games he accepted 5, 13, 10 and 7 chances, respectively—a total of 35.

Thompson made his 35 without an error. Since then he has been going at a good clip, and as he seems to be a fair hitter, Omaha may be minus a second baseman when the next baseball season starts. Some big league may grab him.

Hodap, the 18-year-old Indianapolis boy who attracted so much attention in the south by the ease with which he played shortstop, has not been released, as many expected, but is in Indianapolis gaining experience under Bush and will be ready to play by another year.

Kelleher, who was with the Chicago Cubs and then was sent along to Boston and from Boston to Pittsburgh, has been passed along to Kansas City in order that Pittsburgh might make good where they are.

Photographer Upsets Mystery of Fighter

OAKLAND, Cal., May 8.—Identity of "Frank Howland," aspirant to the crown of Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion of the world, was revealed yesterday when a photographer recognized the ambitious pugilist as Floyd Glotzbach, former chauffeur-husband of Madame Matzenauer, internationally famous opera singer.

A former manager of Dempsey received a letter from Glotzbach, who gave the name of Frank Howland. Glotzbach declared he was anxious to enter the "white hope" tournament under way here.

the promise it made to Kansas City when it got Wright as a shortstop.

Tommy Long failed to do anything with Brooklyn, and has been returned to Mobile with an option existing on him, by which Brooklyn can reclaim him if he shows anything or can be used in a trade. Long has no curve, but he has an abundance of nerve.

Connie Mack's pitchers are not only out of condition, but two or three of them act as if they never expected to get in condition. Mack is facing a hard situation and he knows it. More trouble seems to have fermented in his pitching staff than in his batting and fielding. Poor pitching is what has kept the Athletics down where they are.

RINGSIDE GOSSIP

NEW YORK, May 9.—In announcing that he is purchasing—more or less it appears as an agent—the big Philadelphia arena, Tex Rickard says that such boxing bouts as are held in the building will be incidental, that hockey and swimming will mainly be featured. The writer's bet is that boxing will be more than incidental. Rickard is being crowded more and more in New York and he knows what a fighting center can be made of Philly. Wait and see, brothers; wait and see.

Floyd Johnson and Romero Rojas, the Chilean heavyweight, both have everything to gain and everything to lose in their battle tonight. Johnson is popular because of his courage in the ring and his willingness to give his best every time he appears. He has given no indications of championship ability, but with athletes, where there is a will there is usually a way. Floyd has plenty of will. But if the Chilean plasters him he must expect to sink into the background, the stamp of a second rate ineluctably fixed upon him.

As for Romero, if he is beaten, he will go back to South America a busted flash. The wise guys look for him to meet his fate as he has shown nothing in the few open practice bouts he has held that would suggest any impressive calibre as a fighter.

Now that Ad Stone's hands are coming back into shape, talk of a meeting between him and Charley

Osborne Gets Fourth Place on Net Squad

Lee Osborne beat Francis Hardey 6-8, 6-3, 6-3 at the Glendale high school courts yesterday afternoon for the right to represent the Dynamiters as fourth man on the tennis team.

The match was slow and although Osborne dropped the first set he pulled out of the hole and finished on top. As the title involved who should be on the team and the honor of receiving a tennis letter, both players were rather nervous for awhile, but steadied down after the match had got under way.

Saturday the Glendale high tennis team will meet the Hollywood four on the Occidental courts. Both Laird and Maxwell, first and second men respectively, are entered in the Dudley cup tournament and if one remains in the play Saturday the other will play first man with White second, Osborne third, and Hardey fourth.

Brides-to-be of the Jews or Mohammedans in Tunisia are usually chosen by the mothers and are rarely seen before marriage.

Weinert, the Newark adonis, is beginning again. This should be a fine battle if arranged, because Weinert is a real boxer and just the sort of a veteran to try out a youngster. Stone, by the way, has injured his hands in each of his last four bouts, a fact that would indicate he can hit harder than his muscles can stand. If this is true, it is a crime, because Stone is one of the few natural hitters that have appeared in recent years.

FIGHT RESULTS

At Youngstown—Young Stribbling easily outpointed Billy Conley of Seattle in twelve rounds.

At Hoboken—Irish Johnny Curran, Jersey City, knocked out Billy Ryckoff, Brooklyn, eight rounds.

At Brooklyn—Panama Joe Gans, New York, won decision over George West, England, ten rounds.

At Newark, N. J.—Jack Rapaport, South Orange, N. J., won popular decision over Joe Dundee, Baltimore, twelve rounds.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY AND BOBBY'S SPLASHES

Bobbie Ringtail, the little raccoon boy, hurried along the path after he came from the hollow stump school. The reason Bobbie hurried was because he saw, just ahead of him, Uncle Wiggily hopping to get home to his hollow stump bungalow.

"I like to walk with Uncle Wiggily," thought Bobbie. "If I can catch up to him maybe he'll tell me what adventure he had today."

By running very fast, so that his little short legs moved almost like an automobile, Bobbie at last caught up to the rabbit gentleman. The bunny, hearing the patter of feet on the path behind him, stopped and turned.

"Hello, Bobbie! What's the matter?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"I—now—just wanted to ask if you had any adventures today, Uncle Wiggily," spoke the little raccoon boy.

"Not an adventure did I have!" said the bunny. "I don't know what was the matter with the adventures today but not one happened to me."

"One is going to happen to you very soon, however," whispered a voice behind some bushes. And, though neither Uncle Wiggily nor Bobbie saw him, the Bob Cat glared out through the leaves at the rabbit gentleman. "I'll follow you home to your bungalow and nibble your ears," whispered the Bob Cat to himself.

So he slunk along through the bushes.

"Uncle Wiggily!" said Bobbie, after a while, as he walked along beside the rabbit gentleman.

"Yes, my little raccoon chap, what is it?" asked the bunny.

"Are you going to have supper at your house tonight, Uncle Wiggily?" Bobbie wanted to know.

"Yes, of course, I'm going to have supper," was the answer.

"Are you going to have company to supper?" next Bobbie asked.

"Not that I know of!" chuckled the rabbit gentleman. "I don't believe Nurse Jane has invited any company tonight, Bobbie."

"I—now—I could be company—if you wanted me to," said Bobbie, bashful like to.

"I'll come along to supper with me, Bobbie, and I'll tell you mother over the telephone, so it will be all right."

Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy just said "Hum!" when Uncle Wiggily told her how it was Bobbie was staying to supper, but, for all that, she put a good meal on the table.

And because of a very queer habit he had, there needed to be a special dish for Bobbie. This was a dish filled with water. For raccoons never eat anything, no matter how clean it is, without first dipping it in water, splashing it about a bit and giving it an extra washing.

Green corn is about the only thing raccoons will eat without first washing it. Uncle Wiggily knew this and so did Nurse Jane. So they didn't think it strange for Bobbie to have a little basin of water near his plate at the table.

"All ready now—let's see what sort of company you are!" called Uncle Wiggily to the little raccoon boy.

Uncle Wiggily and Bobby drew their chairs to the table, but they waited until Nurse Jane sat down first before seating themselves, as this is what raccoons boys and rabbit gentlemen always do.

"Will you have some orange pudding, Bobby?" asked Nurse Jane, passing a dish.

"Yes'm," answered Bobby, and, taking up a piece of it, he got ready to wash it in the dish of water at the side of his plate. For so raccoons must do.

Bobbie washed and ate his first slice of orange pudding and he was going to have some turnip bread next when, all of a sudden, there was a loud noise at the kitchen door and in popped the Bob Cat.

"Wuff! Wuff! Mew!" snarled the Bob Cat. "I am hungry and I am going to eat! I followed you home all the way through the woods, Uncle Wiggily, and now I must eat."

The Bob Cat looked hungrily at the rabbit's ears. The Bob Cat reached out a paw and then Bobby cried:

"You can't eat until you wash your paws! It isn't polite! I don't ask you to wash your food, as I do, but at least you must wash your paws and face before you come to the table."

"No! No!" snarled the Bob Cat. "I'm not going to wash! I hate water!"

"Hello, Bobbie! What's the matter?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"I—now—just wanted to ask if you had any adventures today, Uncle Wiggily," spoke the little raccoon boy.

"Are you going to have company to supper?" next Bobbie asked.

"Not that I know of!" chuckled the rabbit gentleman. "I don't believe Nurse Jane has invited any company tonight, Bobbie."

"I—now—I could be company—if you wanted me to," said Bobbie, bashful like to.

Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy just said "Hum!" when Uncle Wiggily told her how it was Bobbie was staying to supper, but, for all that, she put a good meal on the table.

And because of a very queer habit he had, there needed to be a special dish for Bobbie. This was a dish filled with water. For raccoons never eat anything, no matter how clean it is, without first dipping it in water, splashing it about a bit and giving it an extra washing.

Green corn is about the only thing raccoons will eat without first washing it. Uncle Wiggily knew this and so did Nurse Jane. So they didn't think it strange for Bobbie to have a little basin of water near his plate at the table.

Police Have New Weapon

Patrolman Edward J. Still about to fire the "nightstick rifle" invented by Joseph Bauman, New York gunsmith. A flange on the revolver butt fits into a groove in the nightstick and gives the officer a weapon that he can hold steady on a mark. Police Commissioner Enright of New York, and Gen. Smedley Butler of Philadelphia are said to be interested in the invention.

Views and Theatres News Notes

By H. THOMPSON RICH of The Evening News Staff

THE GLENDALE

Carmel Myers in "The Love Pirate," an F. B. O. production numbering in the east Melbourne McDowell, Kathryn McGuire, Clyde Fillmore and Carol Hallows, shows at the Glendale Theatre today and Saturday.

The story concerns a dashing young assistant state's attorney and a beautiful young violinist, who in the blindness of her ambition is lured into the clutches of the owner of the notorious "Black Bird" cafe.

Carmel Myers, as a cabaret entertainer carries the story to a big finish. The flash of pistols in a darkened room—lurking figures in shadowy streets—romance, thrills and exciting suspense all figure prominently in the picture.

In addition, five acts of standard Bert Levey coast-to-coast vaudeville are on the boards at the Glendale Theatre today and tomorrow, including dancing, novelty and singing numbers.

THE GATEWAY

Douglas MacLean and Patsy Ruth Miller continue to romp through "The Yankee Consul" at the Gateway theatre, one of the breeziest pictures of the year, an Associated Exhibitors' attraction distributed through Pathé.

A modern Bohemian of amusement, "The Yankee Consul" would make a dumbbell ring with laughter.

MacLean is a natural funmaker and creates almost continuous laughter by his characterization of a role that is not only unusual but offers ample opportunities for the star to do some of the best work of his career.

"The Yankee Consul" tells of the strange experience that befalls a young man of great wealth when he discovers himself far out at sea, without any ticket, no funds and only the credentials and passage papers of the consul to a South American station in his possession.

General News and Gossip from Staff Writers at Home and Abroad

By DAVID M. CHURCH
For International News Service.

LONDON, May 9. — George Bernard Shaw vs. Winston Churchill.

A battle royal in words between these two contestants has gone two rounds of 3,000 words each, with no decision, except the full approval of the English reading public of the entertainment offered.

Churchill, who has been a rather consistent baiter of the Socialists since Labor took office and who was recently defeated for Parliament on an anti-Socialist ticket, opened the attack and Shaw jumped into the fray with the greatest of pleasure.

The battle was fought in the columns of a Sunday newspaper. Churchill broke into print first with a denunciation of the Socialist program.

Shaw countered with the following jab from the shoulder: "One of the facts that threaten the continued existence of this happy-go-lucky nation is that it is possible for so distinguished a member of its governing class as Mr. Winston Churchill to write about Socialism at this time of day like an extremely decayed gentleman in an inaccessible remote village in a prehistorically backward district of Poland."

Churchill lunged with a dash into economics and declared that if there were less work, shorter hours and longer vacations, he couldn't understand why the Socialists held that there would be more to distribute among the workers.

"No doubt he does not understand the apparent miracle, but it happens," countered Shaw. "The history of organized labor for the last hundred years has been one of higher wages, shorter hours, less work, longer holidays and greatly increased product."

"But that proves only that our capitalists, when they were given carte blanche to exploit the working classes ruthlessly, could not do even that job properly and had to be forced by our factory legislation to stop killing the geese that laid the golden eggs and using up nine generations of men in one generation. It is clear that the formula will not work beyond a certain point. Let me, therefore, amend it by a Socialist addition or two. First, get rid of idlers and slackers, rich and poor, as we did during the war. Then take all the labor that is being wasted on the idlers and employ it productively."

"If Mr. Churchill cannot understand why this should result in less work, shorter hours and longer holidays for everybody, then it is his understanding that is at fault and not Socialism."

Up to now Shaw has the advantage of having struck the last blow, but nobody imagines that Churchill is through. This battle promises to run into a million words or more, and then probably will be stopped only by laryngitis or an ink drought.

Isabel MacDonald, daughter of the prime minister, is running Princess Mary and the Duchess of York closely for the popularity honors in England. Three months ago she was a simple university girl; now she is perhaps more feted and sought than any other girl in England. She has been a guest with Princess Mary on several occasions at public functions and has made her first public speech, perhaps with some timidity, but a sound speech, showing much of her mother's plain sense and intelligence. Notwithstanding her great and sudden popularity she still maintains her balance and has not allowed popularity to cause her to become a stilted young person of importance. She still displays simple girlish charms and curiosity, delving deep into the lower regions of battleships and insisting on fondling babies at hospital bazaars and doing just the things she did when she was only the daughter of a Scotch labor leader.

neath bunks: a rosary and a dozen filthy pictures under the same pillow; more than one bottle of whiskey; and even, where it had been dropped in the haste of flight, a bottle of cocaine. The bottle set me to thinking; had we a "coke" fiend on board, and, if we had, who was it?

The examination of the hold led to one curious and not easily explained discovery. The Ella was in gravel ballast, and my search was difficult and nerve-racking. The creaking of the girders and floor-plates, the groaning overhead of the trestle-trees, and once an unexpected list that sent me careening, head first, against a ballast-tank, made my position distinctly disagreeable. And above all the incidental noises of a ship's hold was one that I could not place—a regular knocking, which kept time with the list of the boat.

I located it at last, approximately, at one of the ballast ports, but there was nothing to be seen. The port had been carefully barred and calked over. The sound was not loud. Down there among the other noises, I seemed to feel as well as hear it. I sent Burns down, and he came up, puzzled.

"It's outside," he said. "Something cracking against her ribs. You didn't notice it yesterday, did you?"

"No; but yesterday we were not listening for noises."

The knocking was on the port side. We went forward together, and, leaning well out, looked over the rail.

The missing malmespie was swinging there, banging against the hull with every roll of the ship. It was fastened by a rope lanyard to a large bolt below the rail, and fastened with what Burns called a Blackwall hitch—a sailor's knot.

Let Kellogg's Bran free your children from that dangerous disease—constipation

Children are subject to constipation. In the excitement of play, they neglect themselves and foster this dread disease. More than forty other diseases can be traced to constipation. Don't delay. Begin at once to cleanse their systems of the dangerous poisons.

Kellogg's Bran sweeps the intestine clean—and purifies it. It drives out the poisons which undermine your children's health. It makes the bowels function regularly and naturally.

Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, is guaranteed to bring results if eaten regularly, or your grocer will return your money. It is guaranteed because it is ALL bran! Nothing but ALL bran can be 100 per cent effective. Kellogg's Bran is recommended by doctors everywhere—they know from experience that it brings results.

Have your children eat it regularly—two tablespoons daily—in chronic cases, with every meal. They will like its wonderful, nut-like flavor—so different from common bran flakes which are most unpalatable.

As a cereal, with milk or cream, they will enjoy Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled. Sprinkle it over other cereals. Cook it with hot cereals. Try it in delicious muffins, bread, griddle cakes and other recipes given on every package.

But start them eating Kellogg's Bran today. Start every member of your family eating it. Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, is made in Battle Creek and is served in individual packages by the leading hotels and clubs everywhere. Ask for it at your restaurant. It is sold by all grocers.

Urge Abandonment of Pullman Surcharge

WASHINGTON, May 9.—Oral argument on the proposed abandonment of the surcharge on Pullman fares has begun before the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Examiners of the commission have recommended that the practice of the railroads of assessing a surcharge on Pullman car travel is unjust and unreasonable and that the practice be discontinued.

The surcharge, consisting of one-half the regular Pullman charge, was established on August 26, 1920, and goes entirely to the railroads.

Murderer Admits His Guilt, Pays Penalty

WELLAND, Ontario, May 9.—Admitting his guilt, William Albert Camfield was hanged in the county jail here yesterday for the murder of Albert Morningstar, rich bachelor farmer, last Christmas.

Suspicion was directed to Camfield when he appeared in a bank the following day with Morningstar's bank book, describing himself as the dead man and endeavoring to draw $2,000.

Diet and Health

By LULU HUNT PETERS, M.D.
Author of Diet and Health, with Key to the Calories

ANSWERS TO MOTHERS

Mrs. W.—You say baby has weeping eczema on the face, and that he uses a great deal of condensed milk. It may be possible that too much condensed milk does it. Condensed milk makes fat babies, but at the same time they are under-nourished because they do not get sufficient protein or vitamins. For babies are particularly prone to eczema.

Mrs. W. A.—It may be possible that the disorder you think is dementis praecox in the girl of 15, is all due to her extreme malnourishment. We had some article on the Malnourished Child a while back. They are now compiled, with other articles on child feeding, in book form. We have a list of other books on Infant and Child Feeding which you may have by sending the necessary self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request.

The undernourished child is to have twice or sometimes three times as much food as the normal child, and that means some food. One long rest period of an hour, at least, each day, lying down in a darkened room, and long hours of sleep must be the rule.

The causes of malnourishment are insufficient or incorrect diet, physical defects (especially obstructive adenoids and tonsils), irritating and unpleasant home atmosphere, insufficient sleep, over-fatigue, faulty health habits, etc.

The foundation diet for each child for each day, is as follows: Protective Foods—three glasses of milk a day, at least; one full cupful of vegetables, especially the green leaf vegetables, part of them raw; one full cupful of fruit, part fresh, if possible. Energy Foods—cereals, including whole-grain breads; fats, in the form of butter, cream, egg yolks and nuts.

The malnourished child must have more of all of these foods than the normal child. You will have to have a knowledge of calories, or food values, so that you can compute approximately how much your child is getting. Take her out of school, and take her as soon as possible to a mental specialist. Can't you take her to the country some place, where she can be out of doors all of the time?

"Dear Doctor—I think you are a real human radio, broadcasting every day messages meaning so much to all of us. We all thank you for the wonderful things you talk of."

"Now I have a very real problem—my girl of six years old, is greatly troubled with pin worms. I treated her with quassia chips. I also had her examined by a doctor, and he prescribed a treatment of pills. The results were good, but still they come, come as bad as ever. Thanking you for all your wonderful advice, meaning so much to the small pay check. Gratefully yours.—A Mother."

Once is not enough to give an injection, Mother. You have to give injections every day until the worms disappear. A good cathartic, preferably castor oil, is all right to give in the beginning. The injection can be made of two ounces of quassia chips, boiled in a quart of water for twenty minutes, adding sufficient water to keep it a full quart. Inject a cupful of the warm mixture and, after it is expelled, use another cupful.

The chief reason that pinworms—the most common worms of childhood—are so difficult to get rid of is because, with children particularly, there is not absolute cleanliness. When they go to the toilet, they do not always wash their hands afterward, and in wiping or scratching themselves they contaminate their hands with the worm eggs—hundreds of them. (The eggs are microscopic and cannot be seen without the aid of a microscope.) These eggs are then often conveyed to the mouth directly or on the foods which they handle. They are swallowed and a new hatch comes on. The mothers and others who take care of wormy children get them, too if care is not taken.

To prevent round worms, see that all fruit and vegetables eaten raw are thoroughly washed and that foods are not handled by persons affected, unless they are scrupulously clean.

My Dear Followers—When sending for material which we offer you please remember to enclose a stamped envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose four cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Mail them as brief as possible, not over 200 words, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name and address of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the columns as soon as possible, if they are of general interest. Don't forget the s. a. s. e. if you expect me to send you the information I have offered.

The following Reader Friends have very kindly sent us in their method of making Potato Pancakes, in response to a request recently published:

"Mrs. W.: Potato Pancakes (3 eggs): Grate six medium-sized, raw, pared potatoes after soaking the potatoes in cold water for several hours. Drain the grated potato, then add to it three beaten eggs, a pinch of baking powder, one-half teaspoon of salt, one tablespoon of flour and a little milk. Bake on a hot griddle like any pancakes."

Mrs. C.: Two-Egg Potato Pancakes: Pare six medium-sized potatoes and grate them on a fine grater; add two and one-half cups of sweet milk, one teaspoon of salt, two slightly-beaten eggs, and about one and one-half cups of flour—or enough to make a thin batter. I use no baking powder or soda in them. Fry on a hot griddle with lots of lard or drippings.

Mrs. C. W. Boiled Potato Pancakes: Boil six medium-sized white potatoes in salted water and when done mash and set aside to cool. Then add to them three well-beaten eggs, one pint of sweet milk, and two teaspoons of baking powder mixed and sifted with enough flour to make a thin pancake batter. Fry a golden brown on both sides, like any pancakes.

Mrs. J.: Eggless Potato Pancakes: Pare and grate about six large potatoes and add to them one cup of sweet milk, three or four tablespoons of flour and salt to suit taste. Care must be taken not to use too much flour, as that makes them tough. Fry in butter.

J. O.: My Potato Pancakes: Pare and grate four or five large, raw potatoes, then add to them the beaten yolks of two eggs, one teaspoon of salt, one tablespoon of flour, and, last, fold in the two egg-whites stiffly beaten. Fry in bacon fat.

Mrs. C.: Potato Pancakes: Always use old potatoes for this dish. Grate six large ones, after paring and washing. Let stand a few moments and remove water that accumulates on top. Now add two well-beaten eggs, four tablespoons of flour and salt to suit taste. Beat all together and fry on a well-greased griddle slowly, first on one side and then on the other. It is best to have two frying pans or griddles in operation at one time, as these pancakes require more time to cook than ordinary pancakes—but are truly delicious and worth the trouble to prepare.

Foibles Of Feminine Fashions

Two striking spring styles and a unique hat are displayed as captivating features of the present trend. The hat is modeled after a European peasant headdress and heightens the charm of the wearer.

By MME. LISBETH

Fringe trimming is always effective, and while there are times when it disappears completely from fashion's horizon, it invariably comes back. It has been having quite a vogue lately, as have other forms of trimming, such as lace, which seem to exude femininity. The flair for scarfs has helped make it popular, for it is the most effective trimming for these graceful accessories to milady's wardrobe.

In the costume pictured fringe plays an important part. On the left is a cape costume which uses the fringe as a finish to the cape. The straight frock is trimmed with silver buttons and belt slides. The whole suit is in olive green with a soft little felt hat to match.

On the right is a smart silk coat model in a wrap-around style with collar of ermine and mandarin sleeves that have a deep, loose cuff that is edged with wide silk fringe. The bottom of the coat is also trimmed with the fringe.

Many unique little hats are seen this season. The one pictured in the insert is modeled from a European peasant headdress made of white duvetyne and is attractively embroidered in metallic thread. Not a becoming hat for all types of women, but might be made very effective for the woman who could wear it.

Heart and Home

By MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

THE ETERNAL TRIANGLE

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a mother of five children, the oldest a boy of eight and the youngest two months. I am considered a good mother and stay home all the time for their sake, and do everything that is in my power to please my husband. I don't have much to do with and yet he has a good position and a good salary.

We have always lived happily until a few months ago, when I found out he had been seen with other women. He is as good to me and the children as he can be when he is home, but that doesn't satisfy me. I am the mother of his children, true and honest to him and to my children as every mother and wife should be. Am I wrong in asking the same of him?

He seems restless and nervous when he is home, as though his thoughts were elsewhere and not home with me. Please advise me what to do. I don't know whether to take my children and try to face the world alone on a separate maintenance or what to do in case he tried to escape the support of us?

HEART-BROKEN. Perhaps in your love for the children you have failed to be the companion your husband needs. If such is the case, you are not the first mother by any means who has failed. I would not advise you to leave your husband who is good to you and the children. It seems to me you have failed him by believing the gossip you have heard about him. Probably he has been seen with other women, but his motive in being with them has been friendly and not sinful. Other women may talk to him and enjoy him in the way you did before the children came, but have failed to do in recent years. Love your husband more and try to be more companionable. I think it would be far better for you to get away from home at least once a week. Have some reliable person stay with the children and then go off with your husband for the evening. I think you are a very fortunate woman because you have sensed trouble before it is too late to straighten matters.

HOW TO ENTERTAIN

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a young man, aged twenty-one, and have never taken a girl out for a walk or to the theatre, except a neighbor girl or two. I am a fellow who doesn't have much to say especially around girls.

How should I entertain one?

EXTERTAIN.

If you exert your imagination you can do much with yourself to become more interesting. If necessary, plan ahead of time what you will talk about. You might decide on the latest book you have read, play you have seen, the situation in Washington, or anything else that appeals to you. Since you are not a versatile talker it would probably be easier for you to invite the girl of your choice to attend a theatre with you, or go somewhere else where there would be amusement for both of you. You simply need more experience. After you have been in the company of girls a little more, much of your shyness will disappear. Make a start and you will see it is not a difficult matter to get with girls.

I THANK YOU:—Thank the boy and say you enjoyed the dance too. A boy is too familiar when he asks what your name is and where you live. A formal introduction saves the necessity of such questioning. Do not permit familiarity of that nature. Say, "Thank you, but I have this dance taken."

SILENT SUE: Go to a physician about your skin trouble. The matter should be given attention at once.

Beauty Chats

By EDNA KENT FORBES

DOUBLE CHINS

Thin women often have double chins, so do young women. It seems very odd, but it is the inevitable result of holding the head wrong. If you go about with your head hanging you will inevitably cause the skin to sag under the chin, and you will gradually produce two deep wrinkles, one back towards the neck and the other just under the top of the chin.

Even thin women sometimes have double chins

If you want proof of this, sit with your profile to the dressing table mirror and hold your hand glass so you get the reflection of the side view of your face. Let your head sink forward and study your outline. See how the skin under the chin is pushed into a loose sort of bag, see how deeply the three wrinkles across the throat, and see also what a very bad line is made down the back of the neck.

Now straighten your shoulders and lift your head. That line down the neck becomes graceful, the three wrinkles across the front of the throat iron themselves out, and the double chin either disappears or becomes much less noticeable. The secret of a pretty chin line if you are young and slender is simply to hold your head properly.

But if you are older or if you are stout it is more difficult. A fat woman's double or triple chin is made of layer upon layer of flesh which must be dieted away and massaged. She will have to use quite a vigorous massage to help scatter the flesh. Perhaps she will have to wear chin straps at night to support the weak muscles, and she will certainly have to give herself a ten-minute ice rub every day to shrink back into a more slightly form the skin that has been so badly stretched. There is no excuse for a fat double chin and very little excuse for the double chin of old age. A little work and you can overcome yours.

Anxious—You are merely growing a beard a little sooner than most boys. It is too bad that at 16 years of age you will have the bother of shaving, but that is the only way for you. You could not destroy this hair, and it would scar your skin if you continued treating it as you have been doing.

Anxious—Use soft towels on your hair to remove the oil rather than wash it offener than once every other week. An oily scalp comes from poor elimination, so you can only overcome it by caring for it in your system. Try drinking more water, and simplifying your diet so there is less meat, less starch and less oily foods.

Tomorrow—Professional Beautifiers

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes, in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, and a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

RESERVOIRS FOR SWIMMING POOL IN EARLY DAYS

Small Chance Was Afforded Youths to Sneak Down To Cool Creeks

By "OLD TIMER"

Of The Evening News Staff

"The Old Swimming Hole" brings no sweet recollections to those who spent their early years in Glendale. The droop of the willows over the pool, the cool depths, the feel of the sandy bottom to the naked feet, is not one of the memories of their childhood days.

There were the shallows of the river which the ranchers up the valley had left to trickle down between the flat low banks of the winding stream or there was the forbidden pleasure of dabbling in the brook that came tumbling down through the Verdugo hills supplying the home of the village with water for household use.

In the absence of auto or trolley the trip to the beach with a dip in the surf was a rare treat and in most cases an annual event for the children of the foothills.

New Pool Great Aid

The opening of the municipal pool in Patterson Park with all its conveniences and sanitary arrangements gives the children of Glendale of the present day privileges which were unheard of in those days.

The boys of Glendale in the early days resorted largely to the reservoir in which irrigation water was stored by the orchardists for the groves which at that time surrounded Glendale.

One of the most popular of these reservoirs was on Glendale avenue above what is now Monterey road. It was owned by Mr. Kelly and was designated as Kelly's reservoir and will be remembered by many who acquired the art of swimming in its triangular shaped cemented walls.

Watch Youngsters Close

Another reservoir where the small boy was carefully watched was out on East California street, (then Second street), on the Edwards place, the home for a number of years of Mrs. Joanna Edwards and her son, the late Clarence Edwards, who lost his life last year in heroically trying to save the lives and property of others in the Verdugo hills fire. The mothers felt confident that the safety of the youngsters would be assured with this devoted mother on guard.

A little later than this reservoir in the eastern part of town on the King ranch between Third (now Wilson) and Colorado boulevards (Sixth) was much patronized by the small boy. This pool was the height of luxury. Cement steps led down into the water, bathing suits were required and the small sum of ten cents was charged the would-be swimmer.

But the delight of the small boy who dragged reluctant parents down to see him swim "clear across" the reservoir, the water clear and shining in the California sunshine, was no doubt as great as that of the boy who sometimes secretly stole away and sans clothes, sans bathing suits, dropped his little naked body into the pool under the willows and with much less anxiety to his parents.

Picnic in Park

A picnic in those days was doubly enjoyed if it could be arranged so that the youngsters could play in the water. One of the popular places was Eastlake Park (now known as Lincoln park) in Los Angeles.

The new electric line down Brand boulevard offered great possibilities and in the spring of 1905 soon after the coming of the writer to Glendale one of the earliest recollections is of a picnic to Eastlake park on a special train from Glendale direct to the park without change of cars, at the station at Sixth and Main.

On this occasion a mother of a small boy realizing the attraction of the water to his child and the temptation to venture beyond wading depth provided as she piously thought for that contingency, by taking an extra pair of serge trousers and a white blouse for the return trip.

Then Grim Tragedy

During the afternoon the stepping stones across the lake and adjacent shallows, were filled with mites of humanity, while shrieking mamma on the shore cautioned the youngsters not to go too deep. But this one mother, serene in the knowledge of the dry suit, volunteered no instructions to her offspring, but a few minutes before the special train arrived dragged the reluctant youngster from the water and searched among her belongings for the dry clothing. But none materialized. Information was volunteered by a bystander that a boat with a Glendale family aboard had upset in deep water and that the suit had been appropriated for the small boy of the family and they had been sent home in a hurry.

Here was a dilemma, a dripping youngster, the train on the point of leaving, extra fares for the party for the later train to be provided, and dry clothing to be secured. But the gathering of the forces, a clubbing of funds; a messenger dispatched to the city for a new suit fixed all this and the party arrived by a later train and all was well.

When the children of today jump into the waiting auto, sometimes already in their bathing suit, and whirl up to Patterson park or over to Brookside for a jolly swim, the contrast between

COMMENT That's All

Fact Important To Nation The Ways Of Tomorrow Success Of Prohibition Obtain Fire Protection

By Gil A. Cowan

A rather timely editorial, in view of recent occurrences, comes from the Des Moines, Iowa, Register, which we take the liberty of reprinting in this column:

A few days ago, speaking before the student body of Drake university, one of the editors of the Manchester, England, Guardian made the following statement:

"What the old men are doing is not so important to a nation as what the young men are thinking."

It was an epigrammatic way of stating what was put in more elaborate form some years ago by another Englishman, Robert Louis Stevenson, in his essay, "Virginibus Puerisque." Both thinkers understood the world of men and women well enough to realize that for all the asinities that youth blunders and bumps through in its immature life, it is stubbornly to some of the theses that minds not prejudiced by too much living know to be right. Without that fact the world would go very slowly.

Regardless of creed or denomination, the average observer of affairs will give the Methodist church credit for a certain pragmatism, a practicality in its conduct of its ideals, that has made it a powerful denomination as well in its religious life as in its secular life. It is interesting then, to observe their use of the principle mentioned as shown by a resolution passed on Saturday at the general conference at Springfield, Mass. It called simply for the support of the colleges in behalf of the prohibition amendment which is a law of our nation.

The cries of futility which have assailed the law are very briefly answered by this resolution. It is quite apparent that the prohibition law cannot fail in this generation. The present generation of any time is always a damned generation. Its course is largely determined. It is the heritage which it passes to the succeeding generation which leaves its impress for the future.

Go to any college or university of today and find how many of the substantial young men and women there are drunks or drinkers. Consider also the effect, not on the few who are "wild" but on the millions of youths who shall know no saloons and know liquor only for what it is, not a common beverage but an illicit poison. That is the only reasonable method for testing the effectiveness of the prohibitory law. The editor of the Manchester Guardian knows, the Methodists know, and we are all more or less conscious that the ways of the young will be the way of tomorrow.

With three expensive fires in county territory reported during the night, it is plainly evident that Los Angeles' board of supervisors cannot ignore its program for the protection of those popular districts which have not incorporated.

While it is possible now for the various sections to organize and get fire-fighting equipment, the necessity for water mains was most apparent in the blaze which destroyed five buildings on Compton avenue, near Manchester avenue.

Pasadena has its Altadena and La Canada sections near by which should be prepared to meet devastating flames. Glendale has its Verdugo and Montrose communities. And San Pedro has out Point Firmin way a problem equal to any.

It is up to citizens to organize and obtain fire protection before the damage is greater than the cost.

CHILDREN HONOR SCHOOL TEACHER

Miss McIntyre Is Guest at Special Program Held At Central Ave.

most faithfully and efficiently for eleven years, and who now, through real attainment, is going into a higher and broader field of work as assistant superintendent of Glendale schools.

Miss McIntyre is admired and loved by every pupil, teacher and patron of the Central Avenue school, and yesterday they took occasion to make these feelings known by special honors.

Gift from Pupils

In the morning the pupils were all called to assembly on the east lawn in front of the building. There, surrounded by pupils and teachers, Miss McIntyre was deeply touched when Miriam Morgan, representing a group of ten children who have one right through the kindergarten and grades under Miss McIntyre's direction, made a fitting presentation, as two boys unveiled an artistic Italian sundial and a bird bath, located in the center of the lawn plots on either side of the cement walk leading up to the main entrance of the school building. A most appreciative response was given by Miss McIntyre.

In the afternoon a company of over 350 pupils, teachers, mothers, fathers and friends of the school gathered on the east lawn for a gay fete, given as a farewell to Miss McIntyre. A program cleverly given by the various grades, entertained first, and pupils and teachers are to be congratulated on their splendid work.

Orchestra Plays

Orchestral music by the very talented kiddies of the kindergarten, taught by Alice Ross Livey, was the first number. Under the direction of a little sailor boy in blue, this unique organization, furnished soft, lilting harmony that entirely belied the appearance of the medley of unusual instruments played on.

Next the B-1 class, directed by Mrs. Bertie E. Emery, sang sweetly "Ride a Cock Horse," "Ring Around a Rosy" and "Garden Song."

Following these Mrs. Helen Ingraham Miner's A-1 class gave two interesting singing games, "Swing Song" and "Miller Boy."

"My Beautiful Dolly," sung by a group of girls from the 2-B and A, taught by Miss McIntyre and Miss Hazel L. Flynn, proved most enjoyable. Boys and girls of this same class sang "Will You Come and Play With Me?" and "Gypsy Peddler," during which a jolly band of little gypsies appeared on the scene.

Boys of the 3-B and A won honors when they appeared with a cunning little miss, and swinging in a rose-bedecked swing, sang "Swing Song." They also sang "Brown Bear."

Flower Drill Pleases

One of the most popular numbers was the flower drill given by 3-B and A girls under the direction of Miss Olive Taylor. All wore light spring dresses, floral wreaths about their heads and carried hoops decorated with flowers. So pleased was the audience with their drill that they were encouraged.

The crowning event of the program was the floral parade, when spring maidens, sailor boys, fairies, flowers, Indians, Red Riding Hood, cowboys and others vied with each other for honored places.

Mrs. R. L. Young, Nelson, L. H. Thompson, Enright and D. F. Reichard served as judges and the prizes were awarded to Betty Ann Bolen, Margaret Wright, Mary Blue, first, second and third for girls; Richard Bottrell, Walter Jones and Harold Murray, first, second and third for boys, and Mary and Virginia Reeves, first, and Lee and June Smith, second for double entries.

Later a meeting of the Parent-Teacher association was held in the auditorium, where the annual election was held and more honor paid Miss McIntyre.

Officers Elected

Mrs. D. F. Reichard reported as chairman of the nominating committee and her report, which was unanimously adopted, was: Mrs. Alice B. Ripley, president; Mrs. Gretta Jones, vice-president; Mrs. W. F. Line, secretary; Mrs. A. H. McAllister, treasurer; Mrs. L. H. Thompson, historian; Mrs. Gerald Blue, auditor.

There were three past presidents present, Mrs. Campbell, Mrs. J. W. West and Mrs. Reichard.

To Mrs. West's lot fell the privilege of presenting to Miss McIntyre one of John W. Cotton's watercolors, "At Palm Springs," a gift from the Parent-Teacher association.

A bouquet was also presented to Miss McIntyre from Mrs. Wyman, a past president, who was unable to be present.

Greatly surprised by these added honors Miss McIntyre responded with a few words of appreciation of the gift, and regret at leaving her Central Avenue friends. However, she said the regret was not so keen, when she knew that as assistant superintendent of the schools she could pay Central Avenue frequent visits.

Picture for School

Another picture by Mr. Cotton, "Mountain Snow," a beautiful watercolor done in the High Sierras, was displayed by Miss McIntyre, who stated that it had been purchased as an addition to the school's art gallery.

In her work at the school Miss McIntyre had inspired in her pupils and teachers appreciation for the highest in art and Central Avenue school is noted for the worthwhile pictures belonging to the school, and the various exhibits of work of well-known artists displayed in the auditorium.

STUDENT ACTORS REVEAL ABILITY

Senior Class Play Staged In Brilliant Fashion By Able Players

amateur line ever attempted in this city. The costuming, acting and speaking were especially good and at no time was there a dull moment. There was a rather small audience the first night, but tonight the auditorium is expected to be filled.

The heaviest parts of the production were played by Harry Murphy as Aaron Burr, Irvin Carver as James Madison, and Florence McLaughlin as Dolly Todd. Harry Murphy and Florence McLaughlin gave the outstanding performances of the evening. Arden Gingery, who took the part of the Chronicler, was excellent. Arden, being a well-known debater and public speaker, is exceptionally fitted for this part. Mildred Sooy as Mrs. Sparkle, Leslie Hatch as the Marquis D'Yurjo, and Thomas Wood, Jr., as Myneher Van Berckel, and Robert Eastman as Jennings, should also receive mention.

The time of the play is the beginning of the Nineteenth century, during the term of President Jefferson. The first act takes place in the parlor of Dolly Todd's boarding house in Philadelphia, then the capital of the country. Three evenings later the second act is supposed to take place, also at the boarding house. The third scene is in the Red room of the president's mansion (afterwards the White House) six months later. Secretary Madison, who is the scene of the last act's study is the parlor of Dolly Todd's boarding house in Philadelphia.

The plot concerns the struggle of Dolly Todd, Aaron Burr, the vice-president of the United States, and James Madison, the secretary of state. In the end Aaron Burr is impeached for treason and James Madison wins the girl.

Between acts and before the performance the high school orchestra rendered several selections, including "Poet and Peasant," by Suppe, and "Evening Star," from "Tannhauser," by Wagner.

Credit Is Awarded

Aside from the actors themselves, there are many who should receive credit. Harold Brewster, the dramatic coach, has been drilling the actors for the last two months, and as a result has produced something worth while. Mr. Brewster also wrote the prologue. Glenn Roberts of the senior class managed the play, and Evelyn Curren had charge of publicity. The furniture for the first two acts was from the Royal Furniture company of Glendale, and for the last two acts from the Eastern Outfitting company of Los Angeles.

'STATES' NIGHT' IS HELD AT CHURCH

Visitors From All Parts of United States Hear Glowing Address

Nearly every state in the union was represented in the audience gathered last night at the Baptist church for the "States Night" meeting led by Misses Stockton and Gould. Reports state that the native sons and daughters of California were in the minority, but included Miss Stockton, whose two grandfathers were both "Forty-Niners."

In her address she stressed the loyalty of each individual to his native state, leading up to her general theme, "The Greatest State in the Union." She took her text from Paul, "I have learned in whatsoever state I am therein to be content."

Continuing she led her audience into thoughts of contentment as a worthy goal of life if that contentment is from the Christian life. From the scriptures and from historical characters she drew illustrations of those who found contentment in times of trouble, in the face of persecution, in the temptations of sin and in the face of death.

Songs of "Dixie" were led by Miss Gould and were thoroughly enjoyed by all present.

At the meeting tonight there will be music by a children's chorus.

PATIENTS ENJOY MUSIC PROGRAMS

Treat for Hospital Inmates Rendered by Talented Local Vocalists

One of the happiest parts of National Music Week was the musical entertainment given yesterday for the patients at the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital and at the Glendale Research Hospital.

Mrs. Paul Hoffman, president of the Madrigal club, who was chairman of this particular event of the week's program, arranged most pleasing programs.

It had been planned to give programs at the Arbor Rest home and the Golden West sanitarium, but these plans were not carried out yesterday. However, programs will be given at these two places at an early date, according to Mrs. Hoffman.

The new Glendale sanitarium on the nearby hilltop a group of Madrigal club singers, assisted by Alonzo Wolter, pianist; Charles Sawhill, singer, and Miss Marie Walsh, musician, presented a program that was heard with joy by patients and nurses.

Talented Vocalists

The singers were Mesdames H. V. Henry, L. K. Markey, E. Hensel, C. L. Viereck, Southward, Walter Measday, A. M. Draper, H. R. Bullinger, Helen MacMullin, William Kattelman and Roberta T. Young, who served as accompanist.

Their program included a song by Mrs. Markey, soprano; "Kentucky Babe" and "Kiver Up Your Head," by the club; songs by Charles Sawhill of Emerson school; trio, "Irish Love Song," by Mesdames C. L. Viereck, H. V. Henry and H. R. Bullinger; contralto solo, Mrs. A. M. Draper; piano duets by Miss Marie Walsh of the Emerson school; "Cupid Made Love to the Moon," by Mrs. Helen MacMullin and club.

Alonzo Wolter, young Glendale pianist, gave four piano numbers: "Elegance," "Massenet," "Litanie" (Schubert-Wolter) and two of his own compositions, "The Music Box Plays 'The Mill,'" and "Impressions in a Clock Shop."

At Research Hospital

At the Glendale Research hospital the program was arranged by the Glendale Choral club, of which Mrs. Alexander Mitchell is president.

The program included songs by Ted Weisbart, tenor of Los Angeles, "Macusha," "Absent" and "Mother Machree"; violin numbers by Evangeline Quackenbush, accompanied by Florence Heacock, "Hungarian Rhapsodie" (Brahms) and "Souvenir" (Dibla); songs by Miss Gladys White, accompanied by Miss Marjorie Yarrick, "Thank God for a Garden" (Del Riego); "Song of Sunshine" (Florence T. Maley) and "Two Little Stars" (O'Hara).

Special announcement is made that the weekly rehearsal of the Madrigal club next Monday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock will be held at the Tuesday Afternoon club instead of at the Congregational church.

START MOVE FOR P-T FEDERATION

Foothill Associations Plan District Organization In New Campaign

TUJUNGA, May 9.—Preliminary plans were made Wednesday at a meeting of the Parent-Teachers' association to form a district Federation of Parent-Teachers' associations comprising the three organizations of Tujunga, Sunland and La Crescenta. Other Verdugo Hills associations will be invited to join.

Representatives of La Crescenta and Monte Vista (Sunland) associations were present and were unanimously in favor of such a plan, which will be taken up as part of the regular business at the next meetings of the three associations. Tujunga will meet Wednesday, May 21, to work out plans for the merger and the other organizations will hold meetings at the same time.

Strong Organizations

The Tujunga association now has 402 members. La Crescenta has almost as many, while Monte Vista, the youngest of the three, has forty-two members, starting the second year of organization. The California Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teacher association has a membership of 79,000, the largest of any state in the Union.

Large delegations from these associations attended the Parent-Teacher association convention held recently in Los Angeles. Tujunga was represented by Mrs. B. B. Reynolds, president; Mrs. H. B. Arch, vice-president; Mesdames Elsie Barnaby, D. J. Warnick, A. E. Donne, E. C. Buck, Wilbur Smith, J. C. Greer, D. J. Sullivan, Alice Carr, Heaslip, Huntington, Lane and Bonner. Mrs. Nanine S. Keane, president, and Mrs. C. M. Buck and Mrs. Knudson represented Monte Vista.

TAKES SON TO GAMES

SAN FRANCISCO, May 9.—Wine, women and song, and not baseball, were her husband's idea of sport, Mrs. R. C. Greeninger charged in divorce court here in answer to claims of Greeninger that she would not permit their 15-year-old son to attend baseball games.

Superior Court Judge Graham decided the argument in favor of the husband, giving him permission to take his son to ball games.

Coolidge In Plea For Adherence to G.O.P. Organization

WASHINGTON, May 9.—Rigid adherence to party organization is urged by President Coolidge in an informal address to the "Political Campaign School" of the League of the Republican Women of the District of Columbia.

It was the first speech delivered by the president since his occupancy of the White House which was devoted entirely to politics, and he made known in no uncertain terms his belief in the need of greater union in the Republican party.

RAILWAY CLERKS ASK PEAK WAGES

Demands for Advances Will Be Made on All Roads, Officials Predict

NEW YORK, May 9.—Railroad clerks throughout the country are demanding restoration of the peak wage scale set up by the United States railroad labor board July 1, 1920, and since then reduced by two pay cuts, ordered by the board. Formal demands already have been presented to a number of different lines in different parts of the country, according to officials here of the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks, who say presentation of the demands will become general.

The requests for advances average from five to six cents an hour and in some cases higher. The labor board in 1920 granted a blanket increase which resulted in uniform pay throughout the country. Since the latest pay cut, however, there have been adjustments by individual roads which destroyed the equilibrium.

The bureau of information of the eastern railroads declared the unions' communications asked for conferences to discuss the increases. The result of the parleys will be subject to appeal to the labor board.

Birds of New Mexico build their nests in the pinyon branches of the cactus, where their eggs are safe from the many animal thieves who are not brave enough to encounter the needle-like spines even for a delicious meal.

Human hair being peculiarly sensitive to dampness, strands of it are used in operating fog horns; when damp it opens a valve, thus causing the horn to sound, and in drying it closes the valve and shuts off the sound.

USE NEW METHOD

CHICAGO, May 9.—Gasoline and oils are now poured into tanks of automobiles at numerous filling stations of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) in and about Chicago by scientific methods. Ninety-five graduates of the company's service station school are handling oil in a manner resulting from erudition obtained through advanced study of the industry.

The men were selected for training out of the thousands employed by the company.

'OUTSIDE BUYING' BY LOCAL PEOPLE IS DISAPPROVED

Glendale Booster Would Bar L. A. Papers Carrying Bargain Prices

Editor The Evening News—I have just finished reading an interesting article in one of the local evening papers (not The News) regarding taxing outsiders who may come into town and dispose of their wares.

I am always for the town in which I live, and make a sufficient profit on my work or efforts to pay a fair profit to the party or concern which can give me service. For instance, I had my business cards printed by your job office, and was very well pleased with both the work and the price.

What is the greatest cause for "outside buying," and where is it done? As an innocent bystander, it strikes me that the largest competitor of Glendale is Los Angeles. Therefore, if an effort is to be made to prevent the "outsiders" from getting the money, it appears that the strongest move would be to keep Los Angeles papers out of this city.

Hardship Feared

This is not entirely ridiculous, many of the cities in the middle west compel The Chicago Tribune to eliminate its "Help Wanted" columns before sending into smaller communities who are unable to compete with the city's scale of wages.

This would probably, however, work a hardship on a local paper—particularly where it is the custom to wrap up the local paper in a mass of city bargains—of course, if they could eliminate the "bargains," as The Tribune is compelled to eliminate it, it wouldn't appear quite so inconsistent. Again, if it were not for the city advertisements, it might ruin the circulation of the local paper which depended on them for its circulation.

HAIR SHORT IS LATEST FASHION

Freshmen at University Get Lesson from Tormentors on Spring Style

SALT LAKE CITY, May 9.—Though it is not because Dame Fashion rules it thus, but rather the force of grim necessity, spring styles in torsorial lines will be worn more closely cut than has been the vogue for the last two quarters at the University of Utah.

This sudden change in the decree of "what the well-groomed man will wear" has come about through the resumption of the annual "haircut" war between the upper classmen and the freshmen.

Freshmen Shorn
Recently four freshmen came to classes "sans" their golden locks, with their heads shaved close. Hasty reference to the barber shops put their "crown of glory" (that is, what there was left of it) in the best possible condition was the first procedure of the day for the thoroughly chastened and humbled quartet.

The four unfortunate freshmen were shorn by the use of hair clippers piled in the hands of avenging upper classmen for the recent broken traditions at the university. Gangs of sophomores and some other upper classmen sought the city for freshmen to give the frosh punishment for their alleged misdeeds.

The frosh believe that they set the styles for the rest of the school and they swear vengeance on their tormentors and, according to many of this much persecuted group, will find upper classmen who will know that a comb and brush are an entirely unnecessary part of their toilet.

Hair cutting as a means of class rivalry is banned both by student body regulation and by President George Thomas. Attempts have been made in the last two years to stamp out the practice entirely. The university officials are prone to deal harshly with any one caught transgressing this rule.

REPORTS UNCONFIRMED

CLEVELAND, May 9.—Reports of possible consolidations among the large tire producers of Akron have been heard here but no confirmation is obtainable. Bankers in close touch with rubber companies declare they have heard nothing of an absorption of the Goodrich company by Goodyear or the United States Rubber company.

HERRING CATCH LOWER

SEATTLE, Wash., May 9.—Little of the Alaska Scotch cured herring pack remains in the hands of packers. The catch totaled about 100,000 barrels of 250 pounds each, a falling off of 50,000 barrels from the previous season.

On the basis of kilowatt hours, a first class bolt of lightning is worth about one dollar.

Members of the Sisterhood class of the First Methodist church will feast upon a banquet of baked fish, provided by the members of the Men's Bible class, as a result of the annual fishing day expedition held yesterday. The men succeeded in landing ninety barracudas and four mackerel off Redondo Beach, over 700 pounds of the finny tribe.

Some of the members of the fishing party got more than fish, according to reports that were brought back from the briny deep by those who confined their efforts to hauling 'em in and taking 'em off the hooks.

Members of Party
At 6 o'clock yesterday morning six automobiles left the church at Wilson and Kenwood street with the members of the party, consisting of A. J. Malarkey, H. A. Wilson, W. H. Reynolds, W. A. Burns, T. A. Wright, S. A. Trowbridge, M. C. H. Botts, Z. T. Bolcourt, James Turner, E. E. Haw, J. B. Moule, W. F. Tower, Henry Kalberlah, Floyd Reed, C. W. Bancroft, A. B. Bolitho, Bert Matthisen, G. Loftus, R. W. Trowbridge, A. Jud Shepherd, B. Holtenbeck, C. H. Bowers, Henry Kalberlah, Andrew Hampton, Mrs. A. J. Malarkey and Mrs. A. B. Bolitho.

At Redondo Beach the party boarded a launch at the municipal pier and went out 10 miles before casting their lines. A good run of barracuda was encountered and soon the lines were all busy, like the telephone service. The first fish was landed by W. A. Burns.

Give Up Fishing
After fishing for some time, while the waves bobbed the boat up and down like a cork on a fisherman's line, several members of the party gathered by themselves and cared little for fishing. They were: Messrs. Bolitho, Trowbridge, Tower, Reed, Hampton and Loftus.

The banquet tonight will be held in the social hall of the church.
